Wesleyan's First Hundred Years

Wesleyan, the Mother of Colleges for Women, celebrates her hundredth birthday in 1936!

A hundred years ago is not, after all, very long. The first graduate of the first college, Catherine E. Brewer, died as recently as 1908. Wesleyan has alumnae living today who can recall the college in the 1850's and '60's when Wesleyan was a shining new building of 56 rooms "located on a commanding eminence between the City of Macon and the Village of Vineville".

The Opening Day

Of course Louise Virginia (Flint) Reynolds of Macon (1856), Martha (Anthony) Buchanan of Dallas, Texas (1857), and Gabriella (Harrison) deJarnette of Washington, D. C. (1862) cannot quite recall January 9, 1839, an "occasion of great interest and deep and thrilling excitement" when ninety young ladies came to enter the college and "a large and respectable number of citizens of Macon assembled in the college chapel to witness the opening scene." But they no doubt remember hearing from their older friends and relatives of this first day of the college, when "the hopes and fears of its friends, the predictions of its enemies, and the eager delight of its congregated pupils conspired to invest the service with an interest additional to its intrinsic importance."

Georgia and Macon in the 1920's

When Wesleyan was chartered, the town of Macon was only thirteen years old, the first tree having been cut on the banks of the Ocmulgee for the first house in 1823. Until 1821 Ft. Hawkins, on the banks of the river, was an important and necessary stronghold against the Indians, and skirmishes with them were frequent.

Milledgeville was unknown at the time, its site a wilderness, the haunts of Indians.

The first bridge across the Ocmulgee was not built until 1826, only one decade before Wesleyan's charter.

The first church in Macon, Mulberry Street Methodist, was completed in 1828.

Rapid Growth of the Country

In 1834, however, Macon considered herself quite a city, with a population of over 3,000, three new banks in operation, cotton selling at 12 to 16½ cents a pound, the country around Macon settled by thrifty farmers, sixty flat-bottom boats and eight small steamers traveling between Macon and Darien, six daily stage-coaches stopping in the town.

In chronicling the progressive spirit of Young America, the papers of the time boastingly mentioned the fact that that year the New York Journal of Commerce was received in Macon in 5½ days after its issue, and that steamers' accounts, bringing news of the Liverpool Cotton Market, came through in only 26 days!

The Beginnings of Woman's Education

It was the psychological moment for the founding of a woman's college. Far-seeing men and women had been advocating it for years, against the hard-heads who said that woman's place was in the home, that higher education would make her "unwomanly", that "females" were less capable of learning than "males".

Duncan Campbell, a lawyer and member of the Georgia legislature, had introduced a bill in 1825 "to establish a public seat of learning in this state for the education of females". It was defeated.

In 1834 Daniel Chandler, son-in-law of Duncan Campbell, made a commencement address at the University of Georgia on the education of women. It greatly stirred the people and produced a wonderful change in the minds of the opponents of woman's education.

In 1835 citizens of Macon began to plan a school for girls, which developed from the idea of a seminary to one of a college, equal to the colleges for men. George Foster Pierce, in "The Southern Ladies Book" for February, 1840, says: "The suggestion was novel—bold, a perfect marvel. For some the greeting of its announcement was a sneer."

However, the idea grew, and the Ocmulgee Bank said that if the legislature would charter the bank and the college, it would subscribe $25,000.

The Granting of the Charter

Alexander Stephens championed the bill when it came up this time, and on December 23, 1836, the charter was granted. Later Stephens said: "The movement at the time was the occasion of amusement to some. I may be pardoned in saying it met with my warm approval. Whatever honor Georgia is entitled to . . . let this still be the crowning point of her glory, that she took and holds the lead in the world of female education."

"A Star in the Dark is Thy Glorious Past"

Then, just as all seemed auspicious, disasters descended. Looking back at the beginnings of the college, we marvel at the courage of those who pushed ahead with the idea!

The year 1835 closed with exciting news of an Indian war upon the borders of the state. Major Dade's command was massacred on December 28, 1835. All along the Chattahoochee there was fighting. This was the year when Texas began her fight for freedom from Mexico, and Macon sent troops to the aid of the Lone Star State. The great financial panic of 1837 lasted nine years!

In 1840, however, Dr. Pierce said: "Many are still skeptical, but the friends of the institution have found nothing, as yet, to excite fear or destroy confidence. Time will soon determine whether the Georgia Female College is a monument or a mockery."

This picture appeared in the college annual in 1899. The "young ladies" are: Henny May Crittenden, Emmie L. Gramling, Florrie Elliott, Helen Roberts, Lois Little, Stevie Campbell, Mary Lovejoy, Mary G. Twigg.

Fostering Care of the Church

At the request of the citizens of Macon, and through the influence of three Macon ministers, John Howard, John W. Talley, and Elijah Sinclair, the Methodist Conference of the state had taken over the management of the college and appointed trustees. Elijah Sinclair and Lovick Pierce were agents for the college, and solicited funds for its operation.

The first president, George Foster Pierce, then a young man not quite thirty, was one of the most brilliant ministers in the conference. It was said of him that "for fifty years he never spoke to a listless audience, and never failed to fill any house".

Dr. Thomas Woody in his two-volume "A History of Women's Education in the United States" says, "One cannot read the various utterances of Pierce without being convinced that he was striving for a higher institution different from the seminary."

The First College Girls

You would think, if you heard the pompous speeches that were made to the young ladies of Wesleyan at commencement, and if you read their own be-ribboned "compositions" on such subjects as "The Influence of Science in the World", and "The Pleasures of Hope" that the students of the first college for women were a solemn lot. Far from it!

In Catherine (Brewer) Benson's college reminiscences is a story of how she and her classmates were reprimanded by a professor for spending the time they should have put in preparation for the lesson curling their front hair with pipe stems heated in the college fire places.

A Typical College Day

At sunrise the girls who boarded in the college were summoned by a bell to meet in the chapel for family prayer, conducted by the president. Attendance was compulsory. From then until breakfast they studied, then had recreation in autumn and winter until nine, in spring and summer until eight.

Next all pupils, boarders and day pupils, assembled for morning prayer. Recitations followed until eleven, study hour until twelve, boarders in their rooms and day students in the chapel under the supervision of teachers. From twelve until two came dinner and recreation, then study until four, when all classes recited again. At five there was prayer and dismissal. Supper and recreation followed until seven, then study until nine, and "afterwards retire and sleep at will".

Expense of the College

Regular tuition for Wesleyan was $50.00 a year, board per month, exclusive of washing and candles, $15.00. This was practically the same as the expense at Franklin College, later the University of Georgia. Piano, drawing and painting, Italian, French and Spanish were extra.

It is an interesting fact that even in the earliest days Wesleyan offered free tuition to girls unable to pay and whose home towns were willing to pay their board. This was in order that the girls might become teachers in their homes, since schools offering good preparation for teachers were few.

In the Georgia Messenger for December 11, 1838, is an announcement of a Fair to be put on by the Sewing Society of the Methodist Church to raise money to send to the Georgia Female College girls who had talent but whose financial circumstances prevented their attending.

In the college, officials urged economy, prohibited jewelry absolutely, required simplicity in dress, decreed that graduation dresses for the first class should be "unfrilled, unruffled, untrimmed".

Yet even so, enemies of the college complained that it was "extravagant". The college president, in a scathing article in "The Southern Ladies Book" in 1840, scores these "very economical gentlemen" who bring their daughters to college, caution them against being extravagant, and then purchase for their rooms fine furniture, carpets at $1.50 per yard, slip ten or twenty dollar bills in their letters to their daughters for fruit, ice creams, raisins, and the like,—and at the close of the term add it all together, throw in stage and tavern bills both ways, draw asthmatic breaths and exclaim, "what an extravagant place that female college is!"

The First Commencement

John Donald Wade's biography of Judge Longstreet contains this description of a Wesleyan Commencement in the 1840's:

"Could a man ever forget a Wesleyan Commencement,—the erudite examinations and exhibitions, the graduates, 'beautiful as angels and dressed in white' with handkerchiefs spasmodically daubed to faces during the grave baccalaureate, and then the Fantasticals who in all manner of ludicrous disguises paraded around the college on horseback in honor of the graduates,—could one ever forget such a thing, having once enjoyed it?"

From the old records we have this description of the first graduation:

"It is the night of the 18th of July, 1840, a dark starless night, ill fitted for the great event about to take place. The large college building with its broad verandas and tall, white columns, stands out imposingly against the dark background. Cheerful lights gleam from its innumerable windows and within is a scene of confusion and excitement.

"As the hour hand approaches eight the college bell begins to ring. Louder and louder it grows, seeming to redouble its energy with each pull of the cord, joyfully proclaiming an unusual event, important not only in the history of Macon, but in the history of every city, for tonight will appear the first graduates from the first woman's college in the world.

"Far and wide the news has been spread and country folk attired in holiday garb and conveyed in various vehicles have come to witness the scene. Their horses now stand together outside the college gate, while the owners hasten toward the building.

"The room is bare of flowers . . . The lights are from candles, but not too dim for one to discern the central figures in tonight's exercises . . . happy girls attired in white muslin dresses, unfrilled, unruffled, untrimmed, with hair parted and pushed gently back from the forehead and caught with a tucking comb, with faces glowing and eyes sparkling with suppressed excitement."

And Catherine Brewer, the first of the eleven to receive her diploma, said of the occasion:

"Our examinations were public and oral, and we were at the mercy of a strict examining committee. On the stage were such persons as Longstreet, Means, Pierce, Andrews, and many others. The Honorable C. J. McDonald, Governor of Georgia, was also present.

"All were required to dress very plainly, eight yards of material being sufficient for a dress.

"A few days before we graduated one of the class exclaimed, 'Girls, what do you think? Those Randolph-Macon boys will be there, and we shall be so scared we won't know a word!' True enough, on July 17th, as we walked on the stage, directly in front of us sat 'Dave Coptin', 'Dot Lanier', 'Fop Dowdell', 'Pen Harrison' and 'Jim Ford'. But their august presence did not in the least intimidate us. If they were 'college boys' we were 'college girls', the first in the world and as good as anybody!"

"Women Can Learn!"

A very short time after this (in 1845) a Board of Visitors to the college reported on the "female college" as they found it, and silenced forever the statement that girls were incapable of learning.

"The young ladies," they wrote, "showed themselves capable of excellence in the most obtruse and difficult departments. They glowed with the fervor of sentiment, sparkled with the brightness of wit, melted in the pathos of poetry, and majestically trod the paths of thought."

1936 Vetteropt Dedicated to First Graduate

The senior class of 1936 voted this fall to dedicate the Vetteropt, college annual, for the Centennial year to Catherine E. (Brewer) Benson, the first graduate of Wesleyan.

It is most appropriate that the annual should be dedicated to the first graduate on the hundredth anniversary of the Wesleyan charter.

The class expressed a desire to honor all Wesleyan graduates throughout the hundred years of Wesleyan's existence in this tribute to the one who, by reason of the fact that her name was alphabetically first in a list of eleven graduates, became the "first woman to receive a degree from a college chartered for the higher education of women".

Mrs. Benson gave her diploma back to Wesleyan some years after her graduation, and it is a treasured possession of the college today.

Planning for the Centennial

On October 30th at Wesleyan the first meeting of the Alumnae Council to plan for the centennial was held. Wesleyan alumnae from Atlanta, Macon, Fort Valley, Perry, and Sandersville met to discuss the year's program, especially the Commencement program.

Annie (Bates) Haden, president of the national association, was unable to come at the last minute on account of the illness of her husband, and Kathleen (Holder) Griffin, A.B. '14, of Atlanta came to the rescue and presided in a most charming and gracious way.

Greeting from the College President

Dr. Dice R. Anderson welcomed the guests, giving an encouraging picture of the college today, the increase in enrollment, the strict adherence to high standards which Wesleyan has always maintained, the fine student body.

He mentioned the scholarships given to Wesleyan girls by the alumnae this year, stressing the need for such scholarships in a college which does not follow the custom current among many colleges today of "buying" students by giving so-called "scholarships" from the college budget.

He told of student centennial plans, the dedication of the Vetropt, college annual, to the first graduate and of special issues of The Wesleyan, student literary magazine, and of The Watchtower, student newspaper.

College History Given

Alleen (Poer) Hinton, A.B. '12, is general chairman of the Centennial Committee, and had charge of the presentation of the committee's suggestions.

Eunice Thomson, Assistant Alumnae Secretary, told of the beginnings of Wesleyan, using as source material the two master's theses written on the History of Wesleyan by two members of the class of 1934, Margaret Miller and Frances Rees.

Arbor Day, December 4

In the absence of Octavia (Burden) Stewart, A.B. '06, her sister, Alice (Burden) Domingos, A.B. '08, told of the campus plans. Arbor Day has been set for December 4th, and on this day classes, clubs, and individuals will plant trees on the campus honoring some friend, relative, or favorite professor. The Council discussed the question of markers for these trees, and it was decided to leave the decision about the markers to the committee. A permanent Scroll carrying the names of those planting the trees is to be kept.

Alumnae Plates

It was decided to issue for the centennial year some Wesleyan plates in the Wedgewood pattern, with a Wesleyan scene in the center. These plates, to be made up in a size suitable for serving or dinner plates, will be sold and the proceeds used for the work of the Alumnae Association. Many colleges today are getting out plates distinctive of the college, and a number of these were exhibited at the meeting. The Council was enthusiastic about the plan, and selected The First Building, The Towers of Old Wesleyan, and The Candler Library at Rivoli as the three scenes they would like to have on the plates.

Centennial Loyalty Fund

Kitty (Cater) Jones, A.B. '17, treasurer, spoke on the Loyalty Fund for the Centennial Year, urging that all alumnae make some gift to their Alma Mater on her hundredth birthday.

Margaret Richards, A.B. '24, of Atlanta, presented a leaflet which is to be printed and mailed to all alumnae, giving plans for the Commencement in 1936.

Edith (Stetson) Coleman, A.B. '97, led a discussion of plans for a costume parade showing the styles for the 100 years since Wesleyan's founding.

Atlanta Group Present

Margaret (Zattau) Roan, A.B. '26, president of the Atlanta Club, and 16 members of her club were present for the Council meeting. There was an air of intense interest and anticipation in all the alumnae as they talked of the Centennial year, and all were agreed that it should be an occasion never-to-be-forgotten, and that all Wesleyan alumnae everywhere should have a part in the celebration.

Lunch in the College

All the Council members were guests of the college for lunch in the college dining room. Four tables at one end of the room were reserved for alumnae, and the tables were beautifully decorated with fall flowers.

Messages From Absent Alumnae to the Council Meeting

Though I cannot be present in reality, I shall be with you in Spirit October 30th, as you and the group who work with you develop plans to commemorate the Centennial of our beloved Alma Mater.

The past of Wesleyan has been long and glorious, and its celebration should be in keeping with the dauntless spirit that inspired those who have borne the torch on to us of today. Through one hundred years of continuous service that light has burned steadily, and ours is the task to deliver it undimmed to those who will follow after us.

Ours is a rare privilege to be living in the Centennial Year, so that we may pay honor to this Mother of Colleges, that from the beginning down to the present day has ever maintained for herself a high and proud position, until now she stands as a towering peak upon the horizon of Woman's Education in the South.

I am yours to command if in any manner I can serve the Great Centennial Occasion of 1936.

Ever faithfully yours in the bond that Wesleyan weaves,

*Lila May Chapman, A.B. 1890, Birmingham, Ala.
Alumnae Trustee.*

Regret unavoidably detained here today. Count me in on any plans you make. Call on me for any work you want me to do for Wesleyan's celebration.

*Dorothy (Rogers) Tilly, A.B. 1901, Atlanta, Ga.
Former Alumnae Trustee.*

It is understood that the Council will meet shortly to perfect plans for the Wesleyan Centennial to be celebrated next year. Needless to say, you have my very best wishes for the success of the undertaking. It is my sincere hope that this celebration will result speedily and happily in the complete removal of Wesleyan's financial limitations and ultimately in a genuine revival of education, cosmopolitan rather than provincial, thereby assuring the Oldest and Best a permanent place in the front rank where she rightfully belongs, not merely for the church and state but for her sake and for the womanhood of the whole wide world. I'm sure you have the loyal and sincere support and cooperation of all concerned.

*Rhoda Cheves, A.B. 1907
Washington, D. C.*

Mrs. Charles J. Haden, Atlanta, Ga.

Am with you in spirit today. I know that as long as you are at the helm Wesleyan is all right. Good luck to you in all your undertakings. Wish I might be with you today.

*Ethel (Barco) Jackson, A.B. 1891
Miami Fla.*

Disappointed that I am unable to attend. Best wishes.

*Harriet (Evans) Southwell, A.B. '25, Tifton, Ga.
President Tifton Club.*

Distance prevents my being with you. My love and best wishes for a successful meeting. Be assured of my cooperation. I gave a tea in September for my club, 25 being present. All enjoyed hearing about Commencement and the college. There is a deep seated love for dear old Wesleyan in the majority of the alumnae.

*Livie (Douglas) Williams, A.B. 1883
President Birmingham, Ala., Club.*

I regret that my visit to the college was ahead of the Council meeting. I marveled at the greatness of Wesleyan, its many handsome buildings, and I am most happy over its expansion and growth. I love Wesleyan, I always have. I am going to Miami full of enthusiasm for our club to do something worth while for our Alma Mater.

*Ida (Frazer) Turrentine, A.B. 1873
Miami, Fla.*

The New Girls in 1935-36

Wesleyan was delighted to welcome a large and well-prepared student body this fall,—thirty more than were in college last year!

Atlanta sent a particularly large delegation this fall—33 girls. Macon girls number 38, Florida 30, Alabama 18. The other students are from elsewhere in Georgia, from South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia, Mississippi, New York, Delaware, Cuba, and Korea.

Great Granddaughters of Former Presidents

Among the freshmen is Ann Maria Domingos, great granddaughter of Dr. W. C. Bass, for many years president of Wesleyan. Ann Maria is granddaughter and daughter of Wesleyan alumnae, has three aunts who are alumnae. She is a cousin of Mrs. M. M. Burks who was a beloved teacher of English at Wesleyan and a member of the class of 1879, and of her daughter, Dr. Margie Burks.

NEW GIRLS WHO ARE DAUGHTERS, GRANDDAUGHTERS AND GREAT GRANDDAUGHTERS OF ALUMNAE

Second row: Louise Wadsworth, Barbara Davis, Carolyn Malone, Jean Bell, Mae Bess McArthur, Amelia Snell, Antoinette Rauschenberg.

Third row: Evelyn Shell, Sara Griffin, Mary Lovett Sharpe, Anne Maddox, Joanna Johnson.

Fourth row: Ellsberry Kent, Billie King, Clara Puckett, Anne Bethune.

Fifth row: Sara Smith, Maryan Smith, Dorothy Wyatt, Frances Brown.

Sixth row: Addie Rie McKellar, Mary Eva Sowell, Ann Maria Domingos.

Mary Lois Hitch, a freshman at the Conservatory, is a great granddaughter of Dr. Edward H. Myers, the only president of Wesleyan to serve two separate terms of office.

Fourth Generation

Frances Brown of Warrenton is the fourth generation of her family in direct succession to come to Wesleyan. Nine new girls are great granddaughters of alumnae. Some of these are also granddaughters or daughters of alumnae, but Frances is the only one whose mother, grandmother and great grandmother are all alumnae.

Among the New Girls Are

Virginia Anderson, niece of Mr. W. D. Anderson, Trustee, and of Linda (McKinney) Anderson, former alumnae trustee and former president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association.

Joanna Johnson, granddaughter of the late Dr. S. R. Belk, trustee and donor of the Belk Lecturship Fund.

Addie Rie McKellar, daughter of Professor I. E. McKellar, head of the department of ancient languages at Wesleyan.

Dorothy Wyatt, granddaughter and great granddaughter of alumnae, great niece of Lila Mae Chapman, A.B. '90, alumnae trustee of Wesleyan. Seven great aunts of Dorothy's, one aunt and 15 cousins came to Wesleyan.

And Among the Old Girls

Are 24 daughters and granddaughters of Wesleyan alumnae. A picture of these girls appeared in last November's Alumnae Magazine, with a list of their alumnae relatives.

There are 53 girls in the "Granddaughters' Club" this year.

The Alumnae Scholarships

Twenty girls at Wesleyan this year are receiving Alumnae Scholarships, the amounts ranging from $50.00 to $230.00.

Five of these were special memorial scholarships, given by classes in memory of classmates who have died. Six were club scholarships. Nine were awarded from the Alumnae Loyalty Fund given by individual alumnae last year in memory of Ella (Anderson) Clark, A.B. '62, and Mollie E. Mason, A.B. '70.

The Club Scholarships

The Macon Wesleyan Club for the third consecutive year gave four scholarships to Miller High School girls, one full-tuition and two $50.00 scholarships to the college and one $100.00 scholarship to the conservatory.

The girls who received these were carefully selected from a list endorsed by the high school faculty as outstanding in scholarship, leadership, school spirit. They are:

Anne Brooks, who was editor of the school paper, president of the Glee Club, president of the Student Government Club, president of the Library Club. She is boarding in the college.

Margaret Gaillard, of whom one of her teachers said, "She has what is rare among girls her age, the attitude of a scholar." She recently won the state W. C. T. U. competitive essay contest. Niece of Emma (Gaillard) Boyce of '12, she is also talented in music.

Evelyn Timmerman, daughter of Marie (Adams) Timmerman, A.B. '11, niece of Cornelia (Adams) Heath, A.B. '13. She is like Anne Brooks, boarding in the college.

Azile Parker, who received the $100.00 scholarship to Wesleyan Conservatory.

The Birmingham Club, with Livie (Douglas) Williams as president and Lila May Chapman, alumnae trustee, as an active member, decided this spring to offer a $100.00 competitive essay scholarship to an Alabama girl. Charlotte Kelly of Fairfield, Ala., editor-in-chief of the school publication, in the cast of the senior play, elected to membership in a National Honor Society for scholarship, received this award.

The Atlanta Club gave its $100.00 scholarship to Sara Davison of Atlanta, daughter of Louise (Davis) Davison of the class of 1909. Sara is a graduate of Girls' High School.

The Special Memorial Scholarships

Of particular interest and inspiration have been the Memorial Scholarships given by four young alumnae classes in memory of loved classmates.

In the early summer eight class representatives met to consider candidates for the scholarships. These were, for the class of 1927, Alberta Bell and Susie Heard; for the class of 1930, Helen Ross and Emily Orr; for the class of 1931, Elizabeth (Anderson) Belcher and Bessie (Lester) Hart; for the class of 1933, Margaret Murphey and Ida Young.

The scholarships were as follows:

1927—In Memory of Callie Mae Willis

Given to Edna Mae Garrett of Arlington, Ga., winner of a gold medal in high school in her senior year as most outstanding student, debater, school reporter, captain of the basket-ball team, leader in the Camp Fire Girls.

1930—In Memory of Marion Dean (Johnson) Gilchrist

Given to Alpha Boyd, of Millen, Ga., who graduated from high school with an average of 95, was highly recommended by Winnifred Jones, A.B. '30, one of her teachers, was a district winner in the Wesleyan Historical Essay Contest.

1931—In Memory of Marian Jordan

Given to two girls, Edith Hillman of Macon, Ga., winner of the Miller High School silver cup for sports, winner of the fourth prize (scholarship to any one of four colleges) in the International Civitan Essay Contest, voted best all-round Miller student in her junior year; and Frances Brown of Hawkinsville, daughter, granddaughter and great granddaughter of Wesleyan alumnae, honor graduate of her class in high school, a leader in high school activities.

ALUMNAE SCHOLARSHIP GIRLS

1933—In Memory of Anne (Herndon) Hodges

Given to Augusta Skelton of Hartwell, Ga., who had an A average throughout her grammar and high school work and who took part in many extra-curricular activities. Mary (Allman) Alford, A.B. '26, of Hartwell, recommended her highly for the scholarship.

The Alumnae Loyalty Fund

The general Alumnae Fund was awarded in scholarships to the following girls:

Martha Graddy of Macon, who did five years work in four at Miller High School, was on the annual staff, Red Cross Council, basketball team.

Katherine Holley of Augusta, a new junior and graduate of Junior College of Augusta.

Joanna Johnson of Gainesville, Ga., granddaughter of the late Dr. D. R. Belk, trustee of Wesleyan.

Irene Moyer of Columbus, highly recommended by members of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Columbus.

Margaret Odom of Macon, a member of the junior class.

Rose Pendergrass, a member of the senior class, student assistant in the Alumnae Office.

Dolores Schatzman of Macon, a graduate of Mt. de Sales Academy.

Elizabeth Thomas of Macon, formerly employed in social service work in Macon.

Louise Wadsworth, daughter of Louise (Peddy) Wadsworth of Newnan.

The Historical Essay Contest Winners

Although the college gave the three scholarships to winners in the state-wide Historical Essay Contest, alumnae feel a special interest in these scholarships since all details of the contest were handled in the Alumnae office.

Ann Maria Domingos, great granddaughter of Dr. W. C. Bass, former president of Wesleyan, Betty Aycock of Atlanta and Katherine McConnell of Commerce won $200.00 each in this contest.

Clubs

Atlanta

The Atlanta Wesleyan Club, with Margaret (Zattau) Roan, A.B. '26, as the new president, is working in full swing for Wesleyan.

The Club gave a delightful tea in September at the home of Jacqueline Howard, a Wesleyan sophomore, honoring the 31 Atlanta girls who were leaving for Wesleyan.

A fund for Atlanta girls at Wesleyan is being planned by the club.

Attractive year-books for each of the five groups have been issued. A number of the officers and group leaders from Atlanta attended the meeting of the national Alumnae Council at the college in October to plan the general alumnae program for the Centennial.

Birmingham, Ala.

A notice of a September meeting of the Birmingham Wesleyan Club at the home of the president, Livie Edwards (Douglas) Williams, 2817 Eleventh Ave., South, came to the Alumnae Office.

The Birmingham Club has an Alabama girl at Wesleyan this year on their $100.00 scholarship. She is Charlotte Kelly of Fairfield, Ala.

New Club, Chattanooga, Tenn.

A Wesleyan Alumnae Club was organized in Chattanooga, Tenn., in October. Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth was in Chattanooga while her husband, Bishop W. N. Ainsworth was attending the Holston conference of the Methodist Church there, and Mrs. Ainsworth never lets an opportunity slip of calling together Wesleyan girls wherever she goes and organizing Wesleyan clubs.

Sara (Divine) Cooke, A.B. '91, entertained the alumnae with a tea at her home on Vine Street. Lola Leet (Parker) Kibler, B.M. '29, was elected president of the club, and other officers are: first vice-president, Lucile (Jordan) Lane, A.B. '27; secretary, Helen (McKinney) Clark, B.M. '22; treasurer, Katherine (Hysinger) Hinkle, '31; entertainment chairman, Mrs. Joseph W. Edwards, who was Miss Edna Hall, a member of the music faculty at Wesleyan in 1908. Mrs. Edwards will give a history of famous Wesleyan women on the club's spring program.

Helen (McKinney) Clark, secretary, sent a complete list of the club's 28 members with their maiden names, classes, and news note about each to the Alumnae Office!

Columbus

The Columbus Wesleyan club, with Minnie (Smith) Zeigler, '13, as president, has already begun an active program for the year. Attractive year-books, carrying a picture of the college on the back, outline the programs for each meeting.

The club has a standing committee for each of the following activities: promoting Historical Essay Contest, publicity for the club, membership, scrapbook, transportation, program and year-book, ways and means, advisory, and local scholarship.

The club will work this year on a scholarship for Wesleyan to be known as the Minnie Drane Bullock Scholarship, honoring one of their members of the class of 1873.

The president of the club was at Wesleyan for the Council Meeting in October to plan work for the Centennial Year.

Marshallville

The Marshallville Club, with Katherine (Lowe) Clarke as president, held its first meeting of the year with Bassie Booten in October. The club has an interesting program of book reviews, benefit entertainment, etc., planned for the year.

The club has added a number of books to the local library during the past year, and has placed in the library a picture of the Candler Memorial Library at Wesleyan.

Miami, Fla.

We have just heard, through Elizabeth (Graves) Bethune, '15, of a meeting of the Miami Club at the home of Lillian (Crawford) McKenzie, '24. Agnes (Morrison) Kennon, '17, was elected president, and Carolyn (Knight) Dodd, '15, vice-president.

Savannah

The Savannah Wesleyan Club presented a program at Trinity Church in March. The program committee included Sara (Godley) Edwards, chairman, Helen (Stubbs) Bridger and Emily Clarke.

The program was as follows:

Prelude, Spring Song.

Hymn, "Lead On, O King Eternal".

Prayer, by the Rev. C. W. Curry.

Hymn, "True-Hearted, Whole-Hearted".
Scripture, Mary Maud (Gibson) Oppenheimer, President Wesleyan Club.

Introduction, Dr. W. T. Knight, Jr.

Address, W. B. Stubbs, Emory Junior College.

Introduction, Mary (Fagan) Torrance.

Address, Dr. D. R. Anderson, President, Wesleyan College.

Solo, Julia (Heidt) Floyd.

Benediction, The Rev. J. C. C. Brooks.

Postlude.

Two students from Wesleyan Conservatory played the violin during part of the service.

The Savannah Club sends in the excellent suggestion that Wesleyan clubs over the country sponsor simultaneous Wesleyan programs in the churches at some time during this, the centennial year.

St. Petersburg, Fla.

A newspaper clipping announcing a meeting of the St. Petersburg alumnae at the Nikko Inn, with Elizabeth (Coates) James in charge, has just come to the Alumnae Office.

Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C. alumnae of Wesleyan met in the spring at the lovely apartment of Sara Branham, 1757 K Street, N. W. Rhoda Cheves, A.B. '07, and Sara Branham were responsible for calling the alumnae together, and Jennie Loyall, Alumnae Secretary, who was attending a meeting of the American Alumni Council in Washington, was present.

Sara Branham writes: "I love Wesleyan very deeply. My grandmother, Elizabeth Flournoy, graduated in its first class; both my grandfathers have taught there for a time; and most of the women in our family have gone to college there. The three years I was there were among the happiest I have ever had, and my classmates there are among my best friends."

The oldest living graduate of Wesleyan, Gabriella (Harrison) deJarnette, A.B. '62, makes her home with her daughter in Washington, D. C.

Had You Heard?

Conservatory Alumnae Banquet

The first important social event of the Wesleyan Alumnae this fall was the banquet at Christ Church Parish House on October 25 when the Conservatory alumnae of Macon entertained the present Conservatory student body.

A large banquet table was arranged all around the edge of the room which was bright with Hallowe'en decorations, place-cards, and favors. Josephine (Hunt) Cork was in charge of decorations.

Emily (Dozier) Knott, group leader of the Conservatory Group of Macon alumnae, was toastmistress. Vonceil (Grace) Brown was in charge of the program, which consisted of dances, musical numbers, and a skit called "Ghosts of Our Conservatory Days", which depicted scenes of registration, freshman days, piano examinations, faculty characters, and romance.

After the program the guests played informal games, and students and alumnae of the Conservatory sang together the Wesleyan Alma Mater.

Mildred (McCrory) Mitchell, former faculty member, is assistant group chairman.

Faculty Changes

Three new faculty members came to Wesleyan College and Conservatory this year. They are:

Professor Robert Douglas Hume of Monterey, California; a graduate of the University of California, who succeeds Miss Anne Chenault Wallace, resigned, as head of the speech department. Prof. Hume studied for two years in the department of drama at the University of North Carolina, where he received the M.A. degree in June.

Professor Dudley Hutcherson of Bluefield, W. Va., who will teach English in the place of Dr. R. L. Wiggins, on a year's leave of absence to teach at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. Prof. Hutcherson received the A.B. degree from Emory and Henry College, and the M.A. degree from the University of Virginia. He expects to complete his work for the Ph.D. degree in June.

Miss Roberta Stephenson of Nashville,

Tenn., who succeeds Miss May White, resigned last June to be married, in the physical education department. Miss Stephenson graduated from Peabody College in physical education, and has taught at St. Cecelia Academy in Nashville and at Peabody.

Miss Ray Ballard resigned in June as teacher of piano at the Conservatory to accept a position as assistant director of piano at Connecticut College, New London, Conn.

Miss Anne Chenault Wallace is director of the speech department at Andrew College, Cuthbert, Ga., this year.

Miss Loulie Barnett, teacher of piano at the Conservatory, is at home this year in Lakeland, Fla., on account of illness in her family.

Miss May White, of the department of physical education, was married in the Wesleyan parlors to Charles Wesley Walker of Columbia, S. C., on May 28.

Last spring, due to illness, Miss Julia Moate, dietitian at the Conservatory, was forced to give up her work. She is with her nephew, Dr. Scott of Milledgeville, and Miss Maria Price is at the Conservatory in her place.

Mrs. Candler Dies

The sympathy of all Wesleyan goes out to Judge John S. Candler of Atlanta, trustee and benefactor of the college, in the death of his wife in October. Judge Candler gave the library on the new Wesleyan campus as a memorial to his mother and father, and through the years since the college was moved to Rivoli, he and Mrs. Candler have taken the keenest interest in everything connected with the library. They have often visited the college and the library, where Mrs. Candler was beloved for her gracious personality and sincerity of spirit.

From Miss Wallace

In a recent letter to a friend at Wesleyan, Miss Anne C. Wallace, formerly head of the speech department at the Conservatory and now at Andrew College, said:

"I am quite happy at Andrew, and my work is not as strenuous as it was at Wesleyan with the two schools so widely separated. I had to make so many sections of each class on account of the work in both places.

"I did not think I would teach at all this year, but I finally decided that I would. I am so glad now that I did as I am feeling fine and over the illness I had in the spring.

"I built me such a cute rock and log house near Asheville in the summer. Wish you could see it."

Costume for the Historical Collection

Wesleyan was delighted to receive for the Historical Collection an interesting old-fashioned basque which was worn in 1898 by Minnie Cleghorn. It was given by Mrs. John S. Cleghorn of Summerville, Ga.

Wesleyan is interested in having a number of dresses of all the years since her founding for the Commencement activities this Centennial year.

Faculty Lecturers Available to Alumnae

Wesleyan faculty members are available during the coming year for addresses before Alumnae Clubs, High Schools, Woman's Clubs, etc. Ordinarily arrangements may be made without expense to the club, except for entertainment of the speaker. Write to Dr. D. R. Anderson, president.

Here are some of the faculty lectures which have been given in Macon with success:

WHAT PSYCHOLOGY MEANS TO THE AVERAGE PERSON, by Dr. Raleigh Drake.

MASEFIELD, A POET OF MODERN REALISM, by Dr. G. W. Gignilliat.

PHILOSOPHY IN ACTION, by Dr. S. L. Akers.

BROWN'S MOUNTAIN, A GEOLOGICAL ROMANCE AT OUR DOOR, by Dean Leon P. Smith.

MUSIC, by Director Joseph Maerz.

HOW HISTORY IS WRITTEN, by Dr. D. R. Anderson.

ON STEPS OF STEEL, by Dr. J. M. Almand.

WILL OUR MODERN CIVILIZATION ENDURE? By Prof. I. E. McKellar.

TRENDS IN MODERN FICTION, by Miss M. Virginia Garner.

THE UNIVERSE AS AN ASTRONOMER SEES IT, by Dr. C. W. Bruce.

Addition to the Art Collection

A pleasant surprise awaited us at Wesleyan this fall in the addition to the Wesleyan Art Collection of a beautiful drawing by Edwin Howland Blashfield, New York artist.

Mr. Blashfield has been called by his fellow artists "a gallant gentleman and a great artist". He was awarded the president's medal of the National Academy of Design in January for his distinguished service to the fine arts. The President's Medal has been awarded only twice before, first in 1929 to Elihu Root in recognition of his service in furthering the establishment of the National Fine Arts Commission in Washington, and second in 1931 to Samuel F. B. Morse, posthumously, inventor of the telegraph and first president of the National Academy of Design.

Mr. Blashfield, known as the "dean of mural painters," is 86 years old. In presenting the medal to him, Mr. Watrous, president of the Academy, said:

"My dear Mr. Blashfield, you are the dean of American mural painters and we are the undergraduates. Fashions in art may change. Times may come and go, but the beautiful as seen by you is imperishable. You are still filled with the spirit of youth, an inspiration to us all."

A tableau reproducing one of Mr. Blashfield's murals was given on this occasion, the symbolic figures being posed by members of the academy. It was the original drawing for one of the figures in this mural which Mr. Blashfield gave to Wesleyan, a most appropriate heroic figure of a woman. It is inscribed by the artist "For Wesleyan College".

Gifts to the Library

Nina (Fish) McClesky, of the class of 1894, recently gave to the Wesleyan library a number of interesting books, among them P. A. Bruce's History of the University of Virginia.

Mrs. Florrie C. White gave to the library a bound volume of "The Home Circle" for 1860, a quaint magazine full of the moralistic stories and descriptive poems of the time. In several of them Bishop George F. Pierce, the first president of Wesleyan, has articles.

Alumnae Gift

A beautiful gift of the summer was a group of handsome furniture, three tables and two chairs of hand-carved Chinese ebony, given to Wesleyan by Margaret Hatcher, A.B. '31. They belonged to Mamie (Hatcher) Grady, A.B. '90, Margaret's aunt, who died March 20, of this year.

Three of the pieces have been placed in the lobby of the Student Activities Building, the others in the college parlors, and they add greatly to the beauty of the rooms.

Other Gifts

Verna (French) Shaffer, '16, sent to the Alumnae Office a booklet issued by the University of Alabama in their Centennial Year, 1931. From it those working on Wesleyan's centennial plans will get helpful suggestions.

Louise Hart, '12, sent five copies of "The Wesleyan", student literary magazine, for 1911 and 1912. In one of these there is a story by "Chung-ling Soong", class of 1913.

Wesleyan Arbor Day

"Planting tree and shrub and vine
We somehow root ourselves it seems.
Our lives and theirs must intertwine
To form the fabric of our dreams."

The Centennial of Wesleyan College is a suitable year to formally set apart a Wesleyan Arbor Day. The spirit of Arbor day is that of a deep love of trees. A love that includes their beauty and usefulness. Someone has well said, "Can there be greater poetry than planting trees and having their tomorrow's bloom and fruit haunt you in their prophecy?" What a thrill it is to plant a young oak which may live hundreds of years after you!

Let us lay our plans well ahead for the planting this year. The tentative date in December 4th has been selected, and from that date until planting season is over.

A formal ceremony has been adopted and individuals and clubs are asked to cooperate with the regulations. The trees and shrubs planted should be placed in position shown on the landscaped plan which was adopted by the Alumnae Organization three years ago and is under the direction of the Grounds Committee. The Guerry nursery at Rivoli has furnished a large number of the plants and can be relied upon to give fine plants and plant them correctly. Send your order if you cannot come in person. The Memorial Garden enclosed by the court has been planted to the memory of loved ones.

Much interest has been shown in this particular place, and it is already fragrant with teaolive and gardenia blooms. The Alpha Delta Pi alumnae have planted hollies, and the Phi Mu alumnae magnolias. It is hoped they will continue this annually. Surely there are many who would love to place a tree or shrub in memory of some mother, aunt or sister, and a Club could well plant an avenue of oaks or other suitable trees, or a grove of ever-green cherry laurel.

The response has been fine but the committee feels sure there are many who if they but knew the time and plan would want to have a part in planting Wesleyan's campus. The names of those furnishing trees as well as in whose memory planted are enrolled and a scroll will be made giving the name, date, etc.

Get your plants and plans made to celebrate Wesleyan Arbor Day, December 4th. Should you want further information, communicate with The Alumnae Office, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

They will put the matter in the hands of the Grounds Committee.

Octavia (Burden) Stewart, Chairman.

Class Notes

1857

Among the U. D. C. prizes offered is the Loula Kendall Rogers goblet, given by Mrs. Herbert M. Franklin of Tennille in memory of her mother, who was poet laureate of the U. D. C. until her death in 1931. The historic goblet was among the wedding gifts to Mrs. Rogers in 1863.

The Washington, D. C. Wesleyan club wrote after their spring meeting:

Bessie (Reed) Napier died May 3 at the home of her daughter, Gladys (Napier) Corbin, A.B. '11. She was the oldest Wesleyan graduate in Macon, and at the age of 89 was a bright, vivacious little lady, always present at alumnae gatherings, looking very pretty with her soft white curls around her head. She was the oldest living member of the Phi Mu Sorority, having joined the old Philomathean Society ten years after its founding. Just last spring her granddaughter, Louise Bowen, entered the Wesleyan Historical Essay Contest, writing as her essay the reminiscences of her grandmother, a delightful story of the early days of Wesleyan.

Mrs. Napier was the mother of twelve children and thirteen grandchildren.

The Washington, D. C. Club writes:

"We were very disappointed in that we had thought Mrs. deJarnette, our oldest living graduate, would be our guest of honor but went ahead without an honor guest when circumstances arose which prevented her being with us for, of course no other person could have filled her place. Without an appointment, I had called to see her one evening early in March and considered myself most fortunate in finding her free to see me. I do wish all could know her. She is the dearest, most delightful little lady one could wish to meet. She is small and has beautiful dark eyes and silvery hair becomingly arranged. With all this she has an unusually pleasant voice and a most gracious manner. She makes her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Taylor who are splendid people. Mrs. Taylor, no doubt, has inherited her mother's keen sense of humor. She is very charming, and I'm sorry we can't claim her too, but Sweet Briar is her Alma Mater.

1869

The Alumnae office was delighted to hear this fall from a graduate of the class of 1869, Cora (Warren) Beck. She is now nearing her eighty-fifth birthday, and is living in New York with her daughter, Minna McLeod Beck, who is teaching art at Pratt's and also making textile designs. Her address is Tudor Tower, 25 Prospect Place. She writes of her love for the old college and of her hope that Wesleyan will "ride out of the depression as she has many others".

1873

Class Secretary: Mrs. Thomas Peters (Kate Ross), 358 Parkway Dr., Atlanta, Ga.

In Banta's Greek Exchange for October, 1933, was this statement:

"Alpha Delta Pi, like few other Greek letter groups, can boast of four-generation membership, three of them living, grandmother, mother and daughter. The great grandmother was a charter member of the Adelphean Society at Wesleyan College."

The four generations are: Ella (Pierce) Turner, A.B., 1852, daughter of the first president of Wesleyan; Carrie (Turner) Wilson, of the class of 1873, Grace (Troutman) Wilson, of the class of 1907; and Grace Wilson, a student at the University of Georgia, daughter of Grace (Troutman) Wilson.

Also in the same magazine is a picture of Kate (Ross) Peters taken with the first diploma given by Wesleyan, and with this legend: "Mrs. Tom Peters, one of Phi Mu's oldest active members, a member of the Wesleyan class of '73, shown examining the first college diploma ever issued to a woman. The diploma was granted to a member of her mother's class."

Wesleyan had a most charming visitor from Miami in October, Ida (Frazer) Turrentine, vivacious and interested in everything in life at eighty, former president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Miami. She is the head of a family of five children and ten grandchildren. She told most interesting things about her college days, of the compositions the girls wrote for commencement, of the hours of practicing before Dr. Myers, then president, so that the girls would be able to walk on the stage gracefully with trains on their dresses! (They practiced by pinning newspapers to their everyday dresses!)

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. G. Solomon (Lillian Roberts), 218 Forsyth St., Macon, Ga.

I am hoping earnestly that all the members of my class will respond to my request and let me hear from them. We are anxious to plan for the centennial reunion at Commencement. I shall be looking for a letter from Alice (Trippe) Gilbert, Florrie (Allen) Chappell, Willie (Lawton) Stockton, Julia (Turner) Smith, Lena (Shewmake) Johnston, Kittie (Stewart) Bird, and Aurie (Smith) Davis. I hope I have not left out anybody.

I had a very delightful experience in May as one of my classmates, Clara (Patten) Watson of Columbus came to the Alumnae Banquet and we had a happy time together. She is sorry to have missed these gatherings before and promises that she will come in 1936 if all goes well, and help to uphold the honor of our class.

As the years pass our ranks are thinning, and four have passed to the Higher School since last November, Viccie Holmes, Cecelia (Willingham) Payne, Ella Bacon and Annie (Hollingsworth) Pound. It is always sad to record the death of friends. To have lived life well is the only legacy worth while.

So again urging you to be with me when we gather at Wesleyan again, I am

Faithfully yours,

Lillian (Roberts) Solomon,

Class Secretary.

Lillian (Solomon) Roberts' granddaughter, Elizabeth Smith, was married last November to J. T. Holt of Macon. Elizabeth is the daughter of the late Louise (Solomon) Smith and the niece and stepdaughter of Elizabeth (Solomon) Smith of the class of 1911 at Wesleyan.

1877

The Alumnae Office has just heard, through Clyde Smith of the class of '21 who is now librarian in Hattiesburg, Miss., of a member of the class of '77 living there—Ettie (McElrath) Powe. Mrs. Powe made a special trip to the library to meet the new librarian and fellow-alumna of old Wesleyan.

1878

Class Secretary: Mrs. Washington Des-sau (Fannie Gilmer) 301 Hines Terrace, Macon, Ga.

Verdie (Akin) Erwin of Yakima, Washington, takes an active part in the cultural life of Yakima. A letter to her sister, Sally May Akin, librarian of the Washington Memorial Library in Macon, asks for some material on contemporary poetry for a paper she is writing for her club.

Sympathy is extended to Eugenia (Munnerlyn) Ethridge in the tragic death of her grandson, James Ethridge Callaway of New York, in an automobile accident. He was 22 years old, a student at Princeton University.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Cuyler King (Henrietta Nisbet) 1706 Park Dr., Charlotte, N. C.

Among the U. D. C. prizes offered in Macon is the Carswell-Napier cup, given by Pearl (Napier) O'Daniel in honor of her eight uncles to the chapter having the largest attendance.

1880

Class Secretary: Mrs. Alfred Truitt (Ida Price), 1027 Columbia Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

A charming picture of four generations of the same family appeared in The Telegraph in July. They were Stella (Hunt) King, '80, Odille (King) Dasher, '07, Odille (Dasher) Phelts, '30, and little Odille Phelts, Odille's baby daughter.

1881

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. W. Daves (Annie Hopkins), Cartersville, Ga.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Clara Ophelia (Harris) Bland in the death of four brothers during 1935.

1882

Class Secretary: Mrs. Mary Anderson (Mary Jones), Talladega, Ala.

Mamie (Miller) Morgan, 2913 Banita Ave., Tampa, Fla., writes: "I entered Wesleyan September 1, 1868. I took music, instrumental and vocal, and had quite a reputation as an alto singer. Honors were given in the different classes in vocal. Miss Fannie Foote was given first honor in soprano and I received second honor in alto. Alice Wright, Fannie Foote and I, with President Bonnell and Prof. Whitney, organist, were sent for every Sunday by the Methodist Church for music. I was then fifteen years old. I am now 82." Mamie (Miller) Morgan's niece, Virginia Miller, was at Wesleyan in the class of 1933.

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. D. Lamar, Dorothy (Blount), 238 Georgia Ave., Macon, Ga.

Dorothy (Blount) Lamar saw the realization of the cherished dream of years on October 12 when dedication exercises were held at Stratford Hall in Virginia, the home of Robert E. Lee. Since 1929, when the Robert E. Lee Foundation was organized to restore Stratford, Mrs. Lamar has been its director for Georgia, and with the tireless determination which she puts into any undertaking, she has seen the task accomplished. Immediately after speaking at the dedication ceremonies, when she was in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Lamar was called home on account of the illness of her mother, now 92 years old.

1884

Class Secretary: Mattie Rogers, 274 Georgia Ave., Macon, Ga.

One of the most inspirational services at Wesleyan commencement was the Morning Watch, with Carrie (Johnson) Rodgers leading the devotional. She has had a full ministerial course with her husband at the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, and gave a beautiful and appropriate talk.

Mamie (Rowland) Chance is one of the most loyal of Wesleyan's alumnae. She and Carrie (Johnson) Rodgers were at Wesleyan together commencement, and Mamie writes that she is planning to come back for the Centennial festivities. Mr. Chance's niece, Mary Lovett Sharpe, is a member of the freshman class at Wesleyan this year, and is the daughter and granddaughter of Wesleyan alumnae.

Dellie (Freeman) Young's daughter, Clara, is one of the student assistants in the Alumnae office. She is making an excellent record in her college work, too, as a member of the junior class.

Willie (Swoll) Sawyer's little granddaughter, Emily Sawyer, will be a year old in December. She is the daughter of Willie's son, Rev. Swoll Sawyer of Homerville, and his wife, Annie Lawrence (Riley) Sawyer, A.B. '25.

Class Secretary: M. Kate Neal, 1364 Emory Rd., Atlanta, Ga.

Doris Duke, daughter of Nannaline (Holt) Duke, was married on February 13 to James H. R. Cromwell, writer and political leader. They spent their honeymoon in Italy and Egypt. Doris, who has been called by the newspapers "the richest girl in the world" is the only daughter of Nannaline (Holt) Duke, who has one son, Walter Inman, by a former marriage.

Sympathy is extended to Ada (Murphey) Pound in the death of her husband, Dr. Jere M. Pound, widely known Georgia educator.

1887

Class Secretary: Mrs. E. A. Douglass (Jennie Martin), Lake Mary, Fla.

1888

Class Secretaries: Mrs. W. T. Stone (Ida Lowrey), Blakely, Ga.; Mrs. Belle S. Wooten (Belle Stewart), Gray, Ga.

I spent my summer vacation in Connecticut and Vermont with my "Yankee children," Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Buck, and was introduced to my brand-new granddaughter, who bears the lovely old-fashioned name of Caroline. Before returning home I saw a great deal of that lovely New England country, and visited many places of historic interest.

The day after I reached home I received a letter from Cona Kelly's daughter, Mrs. Samuel B. Rentsch, whose husband is a physician at Derby, Conn. She wrote that she had found among her mother's effects a letter that I had written last year when I was sending out the Loyalty Call, but Cona had already passed beyond the reach of "these voices", though none of us knew of it until we heard her name called at the Memorial service (1934). Mrs. Rentsch (whose name is Hazel) said that she and Dr. Rentsch were always glad to see anyone from the South, also I know that although more than a year has passed since Cona, whom she spoke of as her "wonderful mother" passed away, if any member of our class would write her a note in appreciation of our "absent" classmate, she would love to have it.

Mrs. Ed. Kidd (Louwill Culver) Milledgeville, Ga. has a handsome young son, Culver Kidd, a student at Tech in Atlanta, who last term was business manager of Technique, also a member of several honorary organizations, including Pi Delta Epsilon, the Bulldog Club and the Scientific Club, a member of the student council and of the 1935-'36 council, a Varsity basketball player, a member of the inter-fraternity council and the Sigma Chi fraternity. The present term is so young that I have not yet learned that activities have engaged his interest, but judging from his last term's record Louwill's son must be a "young man of parts!"

A letter from Mrs. Fred Cole (Clara Boynton) 53 Fifteenth St., Atlanta, expressed her pleasure in reading the Alumnae notes. She also spoke of her gratification that it was through the influence of a member of our Class, Mrs. C. J. Haden (Annie Bates) that the painting of the Candler Memorial Library at Wesleyan was placed in our State Capitol.

Mrs. J. P. Riddle (Louise Morse) Davisboro, Ga. vacationing on Lookout Mountain and in Chattanooga, sent me in August a post-card bouquet of the lovely Rhododendron and Laurel blooms that she was enjoying in the Rock City gardens.

Carrie Speer (Americus, Ga.) in one of her gayer moods writes me that her pen has been so prolific this year that she has exhausted her supply of paper, and positively refuses to write on anything but slash pine paper ("pulp produces prosperity.") She suggests that if Lella Clark can be persuaded to edit all her "stuff" (her own name for it) they too can very soon pay Wesleyan out of debt. 'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished," so I suggest that a proper "persuading committee" be appointed to wait on Lella without loss of time!

A letter comes from Mamie (Haygood) Ardis in Avalon, California, where her family has gone every summer for twenty-four years. She is so far away from us that her letters are always doubly prized. She enclosed kodak pictures of herself and husband, also of her youngest daughter, Emory, who was married immediately after graduation in 1931, and in this picture introduces her lovely small daughter, Kathleen. Judge Ardis is shown in "shorts" which his children begged him to "be a sport and wear," but he doesn't look altogether happy in them! However, he threw up his head and faced the kodak like the "upright Judge" he is! Mamie, standing by his side is smiling gleefully, having successfully resisted the blandishments that "Mom," too, would "turn modern!" Mamie enclosed a very interesting program recently presented by her music class, which she calls a "precious hobby" of hers, which adds so much joy to her life. She expressed her continued interest in Class '88 and said that nothing would make her happier than "to embrace each dear old Pal." I know the Class joins me in the wish that she may be at Wesleyan for the Centennial celebration next summer, bringing her husband with her!

I am so glad to have had a letter in today's mail from Willie (Dews) Miller, just in time to be included in my notes. 'Twas in answer to mine of a few days ago, which, she said, brought to mind pleasant memories of long ago—of golden college days when life lay before us bright with promise. Four years ago her husband was "called home," but she finds great joy and pleasure in the nearness of her oldest son, Will D. and his gifted and charming wife, with their handsome and talented little sons. Her younger son, George, who is a florist, makes his home with Willie, and "like his flowers, is sunny and smiling." She asks that any of the members of the Class who may feel like doing so will send her a note, which will be a treat to her, as she is not able to get out, having been an invalid for years, and is now almost constantly in bed. She is looking forward to the next number of our Magazine for news of the old classmates and friends, but of course a personal message will be more appreciated, so send your "word of cheer!"

Ida (Lowrey) Stone, Secretary

Dear Classmates:

On a recent visit to Lella Clark, A.B. '89, I had visits with Ella (McAndrew) Burney, Florence Bernd, and Irene Hendrix. Lella's sainted mother once said, "Oh, Belle, it is so beautiful to grow old!" This thought came to me as I saw and talked with these friends of by-gone days, still friends. Growing old? Why yes, if we count the years, but what matter the gray hairs and wrinkles and bent forms if we keep young in spirit by God's grace and continue faithful to each other? Lella, (she was one of us for so long, you know) Florence, Ella, Irene—each filling worthily her own place in life.

Last spring Lella had a most interesting letter from Margaret Cook telling of her kindergarten work in the Lambuth Training School, Osaka, Japan. Margaret thinks she may be at home before many years go by, when there will be much time to talk for her beloved Japan. In the mean time, she is using the remaining time wisely to the full. She wants to keep in close touch with friends across the Pacific where she must have contacts when her work for Japan can no longer be done on that side. Let's send her Christmas greetings. Her address is Osaka, Japan, care Lambuth Jo Gakuin.

Sallie (Barron) Ellis is again at home in the old home town, Clinton, with her husband, a retired Methodist minister, the grandson, and his mother. Sallie's devotion for Wesleyan grows stronger with the years. Sallie and I, life-long friends, have many heart to heart talks about Wesleyan days in the eighties.

A card to Mamie (Haygood) Ardis in far-away California, brought a prompt and beautiful response. In the letter was the daintiest little bouquet of pressed white butterfly lilies that grew from a bulb that came from the one which furnished the flowers of her wedding bouquet forty-six years ago. Mamie said, "Your card sent the flood gates of memory of Wesleyan days wide open—memories of Dr. Bass, Dr. Smith, Prof. Derry, Mrs. Cobb, Miss Post, Miss Wooster, Miss Myers, my classmates and others". Mamie declares that Miss Wooster gave her the vocal medal to pay for all the tears she had over her lessons. Music still holds her captive. She teaches from force of habit and recently when a friend stored a Sohmer piano in her home she had it and her own parlor grand put on friendly keys that she might have duos and double trios. The Ardis family had a lovely summer in their cottage at Catalina. Mamie would like to exchange kodak pictures with the girls of '88. Who will be the first to respond to this? She sent for me to see a picture of herself standing beneath a giant palm tree which she planted on the lawn of her home in 1908. If friend husband will consent to the separation long enough she will be with us at our next reunion. She sends love to the class.

California is lovely, but it takes Georgia to pull at her heart strings.

Sincerely,

Belle (Stewart) Wootten,
Class Secretary.

1889

Two members of the class of 1889 were written up in "Pen Shots," a department in the Macon Telegraph devoted to "Macon women making careers." They were Lella Clark, who has done a great deal of writing, and Hattie (Jarvis) Kaigler, manager of a business college in Macon.

Allie (Cleghorn) Pitner of the class of '89, died September 7, 1933.

1890

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. P. Coleman (Ida Mangham), Massee Apts., Macon, Ga.

Ida (Mangham) Coleman had a delightful trip abroad this summer, visiting many new and different places and countries.

Sally Akin is on the program of the Macon Writers' Club for a monthly survey of new books.

Mamie (Feagin) Harmon and her husband, Rev. J. A. Harmon, spent their summer vacation at Lake Junaluska, N. C.

1891

Class Secretary: Mrs. Walter Grace, Sr. (Ruby Jones), 631 Forsyth St., Macon, Ga.

Sara (Divine) Cooke very graciously offered her home as a meeting place for the Wesleyan alumnae in Chattanooga when Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth met with them there this fall. Mrs. Cooke has four daughters, two sons, two grandsons and one granddaughter.

Sympathy is extended to Eva Ellis, '91, Lula Ellis, '92, and Eugenia Ellis, '97 in the death of their brother, Curran Ellis of Macon in November, 1934.

Sympathy is extended to Martha (Huff) Jennings in the death of her husband, Dr. W. B. Jennings of Germantown, Penn., in September. She has two daughters. Of two sons, one died at an early age and one, Dr. Arnold Jennings, died in January, 1931. Mary Bond Smith, A.B. '92, went to Pennsylvania to attend the funeral.

Rose (Jones) Lane of Chattanooga, Tenn. has one daughter and one son.

Rosa Belle (Thornton) Lane is historian of Butts County, Ga. She is Regent of the William McIntosh Chapter of D.A.R., is a life member of the Virginia Historical Society, a member of the Georgia Historical Society, Historian General of the John Floyd Chapter of U.S.D. 1812, member of the Daughters of American Colonists, Sons and Daughters of Pilgrims, (Atlanta), Founders and Patriots (in Virginia), Daughters of the Confederacy, (Jackson). She spent the summer of 1934 traveling in Europe, visited ten countries. She has addressed various organizations on different phases of the tour. She is president of the Mimosa Garden Club of Jackson, Ga.

A story appeared in the Macon Telegraph this year about Colie Waite, advertising manager of Burden, Smith and Co., telling of her success in this field, of her charm of personality, of her home in North Highlands, Macon.

Class Secretary: Mary Bond Smith, Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

A long article appeared in the Telegraph this year about Robert Lanier Anderson, husband of Gertrude (Roberts) Anderson. He is spoken of as one of the "builders of middle Georgia," a "lawyer whose colleagues honor him, a man whose friends love him, an advisor whose consultants trust him."

1893

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. O. Jones (Loula Evans), Newnan, Ga.

Lula (Fulghum) Vincent is very proud of her new grandson, John Carter Vincent, Jr., who was born in Nanking, the southern capitol of China, in May. The baby's father is in the consular service in China. He is the second child of his parents, the little girl, Sheila, being three and a half years old.

It is with much sorrow that I write of the passing of one of the class of 1893, Mrs. J. Henry Campbell of Mobile, Ala. (Nellie Head).

During the school terms she was with an aunt, Mrs. Isaac Cabiness in Macon. Her vacations were spent with an uncle, Mr. Gunn of Perry. She was left an orphan when very young. She was talented and a conscientious student, and has been a useful woman and devoted mother.

We extend sympathy to Lilla (Johnson) Miller in the death of her husband, Norman C. Miller, an outstanding citizen of Atlanta and a trustee of Emory University.

Emily (Kline) Shipp has also been bereft of her husband, Judge R. L. Shipp of Miami, Fla. Judge Shipp was a brilliant jurist and held many municipal and legal offices. Besides the widow he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Henry McGehee of Atlanta and a son, William W. Shipp of Miami.

Linda (McKinney) Anderson and her husband had a delightful cruise of Iceland, Norway, Sweden and Russia this summer, sailing in June on the Kungsholm.

A pilgrimage to the lovely old ante-bellum estates of Natchez, Miss., and a trip to Mexico City to the Rotary International Convention made a most enjoyable vacation for me, one that I will always think of with pleasure.

Loula (Evans) Jones,
Class Secretary.

1894

Class Secretary: Mrs. Lucy K. Johnson (Lucy Keen), 15 Woodbine Rd., Irvington, N. Y.

Although the past year has been one of the most trying years of her life for Lucy (Keen) Johnson, with the death of her lovely daughter, Marion Dean, in February, followed by a serious operation for Mrs. Johnson and a long period in the hospital, she has gone courageously on with her interest in missionary and temperance work and with the care of Marion's little daughter, Dean, now nine months old.

About Commencement time the Alumnae Office had this letter from Mrs. Johnson:

"I have had on the average, one engagement a day since May 12, but today I can stay at home until seven, when I will be going out again. Yesterday I took part in the district meeting of the Missionary Society where I was again elected vice-president.

"Mrs. Petrie (Ina Kelly, A.B. 1889) sat with me at lunch and was delighted with the last Wesleyan magazine. She knew Mr. Guerry so well. We talked Wesleyan a lot. She, too, is an officer in the district.

"Wednesday I was in the city having a picture made with some campfire girls making jelly. While I was away from the Dobbs Ferry Missionary Society, they elected me president, so I will have to work next year.

"Sunday night I spoke to an enthusiastic congregation in the Broadway Temple. Friday night I was guest speaker at a Mothers and Daughters banquet. Saturday I spoke at the Westchester Exposition.

"The American Magazine had some pictures made for an article they are to print in a future issue.

"I must tell you about little Dean. She is growing fast, and with her real blue eyes, rosy cheeks, and bald head, she looks lovely. Still the best baby I have ever known.

"The pink dogwood trees here are wonders.

"Wishing Wesleyan the best of everything, I am

Sincerely,

Lucy (Keen) Johnson"

Bettie Lou (Cary) Bloodworth lives now in Wauchula, Fla.

Nina (Fish) McCleskey, after spending the summer in Atlanta and Indian Springs, Ga., is back in Macon for the winter.

Sara Ruth Frazier met with the Wesleyan alumnae of Chattanooga in their fall meeting recently. She was the first woman in the Tennessee legislature.

Mary Lou (Martin) Kirkland has two daughters and two sons.

Eunice Whitehead has had an anxious two months this fall in the serious illness of her brother, Henry, in late August. He was in bed five weeks, but under the good care of his sister, the doctors and nurses, he is much improved and able to be out again.

1895

Class Secretary: Mrs. Harry Ainsworth (Marion Hayes), Thomasville, Ga.

Marion (Hayes) Ainsworth had the following letter recently from Florrie Jean (Richards) Lightfoot:

Dear Marion:

It is a busy Monday morning but I feel impelled somehow to drop down at my desk (pushing aside for the moment my household duties) and send a message for our beloved Wesleyan Alumnae.

My heart goes out in deepest sympathy to my friend, Lucy (Keen) Johnson; I always loved her and always shall. She is so loyal and brave. I have had several beautiful letters from her since the passing of her daughter and mine.

If you care for the enclosed verses I wrote, I should be glad for you to use them in The Alumnae. In Memory of Marion Dean

Daughter O'Mine

It comes to me ever at eventide,

When lamps are turned low and the fire logs shine;

My heart is made warm by its mystic light—

A light from the dear "Auld Lang Syne;"

It comes from a spirit serene and sweet—

A spirit as pure as the driven snow;

It weathers the tempest of life for me—

This song of the sweet long ago.

A song with a melody all its own

And clear as the notes of an angel throng;

A life that stood ready for any test,

Courageous and loyal and strong:

And this is the reason at eventide,

When lamps are turned low and the fire logs shine,

Why I am comforted—I know

'Twas your life, O Daughter O'Mine!

A beautiful memorial service for Leila (Hart) Warlick was held in May by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church and the W.C.T.U. Mrs. Warlick had been an active member of both organizations. Hattie (Wilder) Gibson, of the class of '89, vice-president of the W. C. T. U. presided.

Harry Hayes Ainsworth, son of Marion (Hayes) Ainsworth, has entered the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri.

Jim Thomson, son of Nellie (Lachlison) Thomson, is beginning the study of medicine at Emory University.

Daisy (Mitchell) Cooper is spending the winter in Atlanta, where her daughter, Virginia, is teaching kindergarten.

Sympathy is extended to Fannie (Singleton) Ogden and to Louise Singleton, '97, in the death of their brother, Henry Singleton, in May.

1896

Lois Rogers attended the Training School for Christian Workers in Savannah this fall. All the churches in Savannah were participating in the school, and three Wesleyan alumnae were teaching in it: Lois Rogers, A.B. '96, Ethleen Sampley, '24, and Louise Bridges, '30. Miss Rogers also visited the Waters Street School, a unique experiment school run on the activity unit. Annie Edwards and Marjorie (Rentz) Perkins '20 are teachers there.

Bessie Bell (Napier) Bonner's son, Emmett, entered the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis under appointment of Representative Carl Vinson this fall. Mrs. Bonner and another son, Ed, accompanied Emmett to college, afterward visiting in Washington and Pittsburgh.

1897

Class Secretary: Mrs. S. T. Coleman (Edith Stetson), 317 College St., Macon, Ga.

All of Mrs. Cobb's old girls and the friends of her oldest daughter Mary will be interested in the marriage of Mary's son, Dr. Cobb Pilcher on September 25th to Miss Mary Barbour Howe at the First Presbyterian church in Nashville.

Ruth Clark had the misfortune to break her ankle while visiting at Lake Junaluska, N. C. this summer. Also her sister, Lella, A.B., '89, was spending some time at Junaluska.

Annie (Felder) Jelks is hostess, chaperone and teacher of English at Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia.

Viera (Griffin) Collier's daughter, Virginia, was married to Mr. Charles Allen Howell on August 10th at Beaumont, Texas.

Jamie (Frederick) McKenzie's son, Frederick O. McKenzie of New York, was married in October to Katherine Cannaday Malloff of Brookline, Mass., formerly of Roanoke, Virginia. The bride is a graduate of Agnes Scott College. The groom graduated at the University of Georgia and at the Harvard school of law. He is now practicing law in New York. Jamie herself had a delightful trip abroad this summer and has been in demand since her return for club programs. She went east in October to attend Frederick's wedding.

Sympathy is extended to Corinne (Lawton) Jordan and a deep loss is felt by all members of our class in the death of her husband, R. G. Jordan, prominent business man and citizen of Macon on August 31. "Pop" Jordan, as he was affectionately called by our class, helped greatly in making our memorable reunion in '27 the success that it was, attending all our functions and being host with Corinne at the tea she had for us in their beautiful home.

Jennie Loyall and Eunice Thomson of the Alumnae Office had lunch in New York this summer with Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell, and had a most delightful time discussing the paintings in the collection which Mrs.

Campbell has assembled at Wesleyan, and the artists who gave them to the college. Many of these are Mrs. Campbell's personal friends, and all of them, of course, knew of her work and for that reason were interested in her plan to have a representative collection of contemporary works of art in her Alma Mater.

Sympathy is extended to Annie (Sanford) Allen in the death of her brother, Charles Dickerman Sanford, treasurer of the Macon Hospital, February 11.

Edith (Stetson) Coleman took a cottage on St. Simons Island on June 1st to give the grand babies a month on the coast and they thrived so that it was the first of September before she returned to her home in Macon.

Eloise (Wilder) Dasher's daughter, Eloise, was married in August to Albert Sidney Major, Jr., Lieutenant in the United States Navy.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. G. Stephens (Lucy Evans), 615 Linwood Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

Robert Stephens, son of Lucy (Evans) Stephens, was elected by popular vote at the University of Georgia, the most outstanding student for 1934-35. He was awarded a scholarship by the American German Student Exchange and sailed in September for Germany to study at the University of Hamburg, specializing in European history.

Sympathy is extended to Harriet (Goodman) Harman in the death of her husband, Willard L. Harman of Tifton in December, 1934.

Martha (Adams) Bigham is living in Athens, Ga., where she is a busy business woman.

Christine (Brown) Cobb lost her husband very suddenly in September. The sympathy of the class is extended to her.

Sympathy is extended to Maria (Brumby) Sessions in the death of her brother, Mr. William Brumby, in October.

Annie (Smith) Bickmore is living in Tucapaw, S. C.

Maude L. Chambers received the Ph.D. degree from Columbia University in 1934. She has been asked to write a series of textbooks on fine art subjects, the first of which is in preparation, Louise (Monning) Elliott collaborating. Maude Chambers has become an authority in her field.

1900

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. E. Hays (Louise Frederick), Montezuma, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Margaret (Plant) Hatcher in the death of her husband in March. Judge Hatcher was a prominent and much beloved jurist in Macon, president of the Macon Bar Association.

May (Wilder) McClure is one of Uncle Sam's army of employees, having been in the War Department, Bureau of Engineer Corps, since the summer of 1918. She is a widow with three grown sons, two of them Pharmacist mates in the U. S. Navy. She has three grandchildren, one girl and two boys. She hopes that some day little Betty McClure (just entering the first grade) will come to Wesleyan.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Oscar Crittenden (Helen Land), Shellman, Ga.

Zulime Lane is teaching at South Georgia Teachers' College in Collegeboro, Ga.

Viola (Ross) Napier is president of the Georgia Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

1902

Class Secretary: Mrs. F. M. Mullino (Mary Addie (Murphy) Montezuma, Ga.

Mary Simmons (Wheeler) Taylor lives on Frazier Ave. in Chattanooga. She has one daughter and a granddaughter.

Nettie Peacock spent her furlough year, from her missionary work in China, largely in Macon where she was a great help to the churches. She talked to the Wesleyan girls at different times before leaving, almost on the approach of Commencement. It was a great disappointment for her to miss her reunion year. She had felt that she was lucky to have her furlough and reunion fall within the same year. But an interesting cross-continent trip to California was some compensation.

Lola Cook McArthur is a frequent visitor to Macon where her youngest daughter, Sarah, is doing secretarial work.

1903

Class Secretary: Lucy Lester, 658 Pensacola St., Tallahassee, Fla.

1904

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. L. Ross (Helen Roberts) 629 Orange St., Macon, Ga.

Myrtis Franklin is "at home" in Barnesville. Her home is one in which her family and friends love to be!

Weenie (Hobbs) Jackson, living in Chattanooga, Tenn., has one son and two daughters.

1905

Class Secretary: Margie Burks, Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Fla.

Gussie (Finney) Beeking has one daughter, fifteen years old.

Rose (Crutchfield) McCord's husband has taken over the Ford Motor Company in Macon.

Anne (Shaw) Richardson's son, Charles, graduated this year from the University of Georgia. He was honored by being chosen one of the four most popular seniors in college. He entered the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York this fall.

1906

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. J. Stewart (Octavia Burden), Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

Daisy (Willcox) McLain lost her husband on July 4, 1933. She was in a most horrible automobile accident herself in July, 1934.

1907

Class Secretary: Mrs. Nelson Mallary (Willie Erminger), 117 Callaway St., Macon, Ga.

Elizabeth (Moseley) Coles sent an interesting old newspaper clipping to the Alumnae office giving the "Alumnae Poem" written by Imogen Walker of the class of 1889 for the class of '94 at commencement.

Sympathy is extended to Caro (Twitty) Martin and to Holly (Twitty) Donaldson in the death of their father, W. C. Twitty of Pelham in September.

Nannaline (King) Byrd has two sons at Emory now, Madison and Jim, and both of them are making excellent records. One is working for his bachelor degree and the other studying law. Nannaline herself is vice-president of the Atlanta Y. W. C. A., and was recently busy with the decorations for a tea for a thousand guests in honor of the new Secretary. She and Maybelle (Jones) Dewey ('08) were together at a Wesleyan meeting. Maybelle is this year head of the faculty wives at Emory, and has many duties in connection with that, the most recent one being the sponsorship of a cooking school. Nannaline had recently spent a week-end with Eleanor (Solomon) Clay and her husband at their country home out from Atlanta. Dr. Clay is president of the Emory Alumni Association this year.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Clayton Buchanan (Mattie Adams), 208 Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

Wesleyan Conservatory is missing Loulie Barnett this year. Due to the continued illness of her father, the Rev. R. H. Barnett of Lakeland, Fla., she is at home this winter with her parents, 1013 South Boulevard.

Louise (Erminger) Harris and Louise (Callaway) Cutler, '16, wrote a one-act play, "These Days of Ours" which won first place in the contest put on by the Macon Little Theatre. Honorable mention was given to two other Wesleyan girls for their plays, Rietta Bailey, '34, for "Tangled Threads" and Helen Smart, '35, for "When a Man Marries". All three plays were presented by the Little Theatre.

May (Urquhart) Peacock's lovely daughter, Dolores, was married in May to Andrew Jackson Kingery of Summitt, Ga., in Cochran.

Eula Council, daughter of Eula (Willingham) Council, was a counselor at the girl scout camp near Macon this summer. She has studied at the National Art School in Washington, where the family lives, and is known as a very talented girl.

1909

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. C. Cantrell (Estelle Manning), Carrollton, Ga.

Dear Classmates:

I have not really neglected writing, but it seems that every day has been so full of things that had to be done that day that I just have not been able to write you. At the annual meeting of the North Georgia Woman's Missionary Society last April I was elected recording secretary of the conference and, of course, could not continue my work of district secretary of the Rome District, a work I had been doing for five years. I thought I would find myself rather carefree and with time for many of the things I had not been able to do while I was district secretary. But, the last four or five months have been anything but idle ones for me. My husband and two daughters, Charlotte and Anne (nine and six years old) began the summer by spending the first two weeks on a trip to Pittsburgh and back by Washington and other points in Virginia. This was really the first vacation we four had ever had together and it was a great trip for all of us.

When I gave up the Rome District Aline (Bradley) Boykin took it and those who know Aline do not need to be told that the work could not be in better hands. (She graduated in 1905.) Aline's (and Marie (Bradley) Deitz, who was a "special" in 1908 or 1909) mother died in July and as Aline had made her home with her mother for several years, this missionary society work has also been a great help to her, when she has needed something to fill her heart and life after her mother's going. She spent a part of the summer at Juna-luska and is waging an intensive campaign in the district now in Mission Study. I am still enjoying frequent trips over the district, as she lets me go with her to most of her meetings.

At a recent County P.-T. A. Council meeting I met Carrie (Marchman) Connally—in fact, we meet quite often at P.-T. A. and Missionary Society meetings. Carrie teaches (and I believe is principal) in the Villa Rica High School and is otherwise a leader in the affairs of her community. Her son, Sharon, Jr. is at Oxford in school this year and Carrie says she is going to take some sort of "extra-curriculum" activity to fill up that "void" she suffers from his absence.

About two weeks ago I was invited to Decatur to a meeting of a group of the Atlanta Wesleyan Club. My sister, Della (Manning) Green was hostess to the group. I was delighted to find Susan Leonard, and Annie Mae (Strickland) Lewis and Louise (Davis) Davidson (ex-'09) in the group. Susan is still teaching in Atlanta schools, moving from one study to another, "as soon as I can learn enough about something else to teach it," she says. She continues to live up to the reputation of Wesleyan days—studying for the sheer fun of it.

Louise (Davis) Davidson told the group of her delightful visit to Wesleyan to enter her daughter. Annie Mae presented an interesting study on the program for the afternoon. The group is studying famous Georgians. Her daughter and mine are too young to enter Wesleyan, but mine enjoy talking about it and looking forward to the time when they can go.

As I have just sort of "reminisced" through my experiences of the summer, I am reminded again how in almost every community the leaders in everything worthwhile include Wesleyan graduates. I often feel that I am accomplishing very little in comparison with the advantages I have had, but it is an inspiration to be counted among those who share the rich heritage of Wesleyan's training.

I am president of a study club here—the Lit-Mu Club (Literary-Musical) and at our first meeting of the club at my house recently, two numbers on the program were given by two Wesleyan alumnae. Margaret (Hearn) Camp sang "Romance" from La Gioconda by Donizetti—and she did it beautifully. And Louise (Maunde) McGirt, '26, gave a marvelous study of Rome from a cultural viewpoint. Those who had visited Rome said it contained most accurate and detailed description, yet she brought it, not in the form of a "paper" but just told it informally and I have never heard such favorable and enthusiastic comment on any contribution to a program since I have been a member of the Club. Another point of interest in connection with my work in this Club this year is that Caroline (Boykin) Beury, Aline (Bradley) Boykin's daughter is on the executive committee.

I have rambled along and I have "disburdened" my mind of its long unfulfilled intention of writing you just to say again how much I love Wesleyan and appreciate her contribution to my life. Lip-service hasn't much intrinsic value perhaps, but after all there are some debts that can't be paid in any sort of coin.

I am sorry I haven't some real news about all the class, but you just won't write letters to me. I hope the office has "gathered" something direct.

Sincerely yours,

Estelle (Manning) Cantrell.

Nonie (Acree) Quillian and Dr. Quillian have left for the Orient where they will spend several months, and where they expect to see many old Wesleyan girls as Dr. Quillian goes about his work for the church. In August their son, William F. Quillian, Jr. who graduated from Emory University this year, received a new honor in being included in the 1935 Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Bill is this year continuing work for the Ph.D. degree in religious education at Yale.

Mrs. Quillian has recently been elected president of the "Connectional Dames", an organization of about sixty representative women who are the wives of men connected with the interests of Southern Methodism with headquarters in Nashville. She is also vice-president of the Tennessee Conference Woman's Missionary Society and has charge of the Spiritual Life Program for the conference.

Sympathy is extended to Virginia Jelks in the death of her father, William A. Jelks of Hawkinsville in February.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Robert D. Shaw (Susie Kroner), 2019 E. 14th St., Tulsa, Okla.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Susie (Kroner) Shaw and to Louisa (Kroner) Johnson, '25, in the death of their mother, Mrs. Robert P. Shaw in an automobile accident in July.

Marguerite (O'Conner) Wyatt has a fine son, William Wyatt, who is a student at Emory University. He is a member of the S. A. E. Fraternity and on the staff of "The Emory Phoenix." He has received the honor of membership in the Eta Sigma Psi honorary fraternity also, requirements for eligibility being leadership and service to Emory.

1911

Class Secretary: Mrs. Warren Timmerman, (Marie Adams), 657 College St., Macon, Ga.

Mae (Forehand) Powell has a grandson, George Hunt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Hazel Rogers, daughter of Hazel (Hamilton) Rogers, and Anne Richardson, daughter of Anne (Shaw) Richardson, '05, were campers at Camp Dixie, Clayton, Ga., this summer.

Mary (Ponder) Hatch lives in Atlanta where her husband is connected with the Ford Company and where she enjoys church and club work and keeps up her music for her pleasure and that of her friends.

Florence (Powell) Burson's husband is in the office of the Secretary of State in Atlanta. She has a daughter who will graduate next year from Agnes Scott, and a son at Emory University.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Bettie Lou (White) Fisher in the death of her husband, Douglas Fisher, in June after an illness of several years. Mrs. Florrie C.

White, who has charge of the infirmary at Wesleyan, was in Chicago with her daughter at the time.

Class Secretary: Jennie Loyall, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

Captains: Martha (King) Johnson, Kathleen (Hudson) Garner.

Ruth (Dix) Whigham came back to Wesleyan in October! One of her brothers has recently moved to Macon, and she was visiting him for a few days only. She is as warm-hearted, enthusiastic, clever, and interested in people as ever. She was interested in the Rivoli plant and the students, and after seeing them both said she could think of nothing in the way of physical comfort and equipment that is not provided. She enjoyed seeing Mrs. White in her new infirmary, and laughing with her about the old "sick-room" of former days. Ruth's older son, Ralph, Jr. has begun a three years course at Maxwell Field from where he will later be transferred to the field in Illinois. Her other son Dix is in high school at their home in Rutherford, Ala. She lives not many miles from Columbus, and goes there often seeing Wesleyan folks whenever she can. On this trip she had been in Atlanta and had seen Annie Laurie Maynard who teaches in Draughan's College of Business there, and Jennelle (Dumas) Allen, whose son is making a beginning in a commercial art line, and had heard of Hattie May (Maynard) Wilder's administrative work in some of the Federal projects in Forsyth where she lives with her husband and son and daughter. Ruth promises to come back to our centennial commencement if possible.

Alice (Domingos) Evans had a semi-reunion of our class at her home in Atlanta in the spring. She invited Alleen (Poer) Hinton and Jennie Loyall to visit her at the time she was hostess to her group of Atlanta alumnae, and had a lovely tea that afternoon. Kathleen (Hudson) Garner was there looking lovely and declaring herself a good private dietitian now that her husband requires one. She brought Ollie (Barmore) Kincaid's regrets that her work as secretary to Miss Barker, librarian, prevented her teaching that day. Alice was charming hostess, satisfying our curiosity generously about her beautiful linens and china and rugs that she has collected from different parts of the world, and giving an interesting account of army life in Corregidor. Major Evans has since been transferred to Ft. Leavenworth for a much coveted year's study at the school of the Command and General Staff. Before they left Georgia, they visited Macon where Florence (Howard) Domingos entertained for them in her handsome new home on Vineville Avenue, and Octavia (Burden) Stewart gave a tea for Alice at her summer home, Tomatavia.

Emma (Gaillard) Boyce had her two step-daughters home from college for the summer and spent lots of the time working with them on their music. Emma keeps up her own music and directs the choir for her husband's church in Baldwyn, Miss. Her son David is a splendid looking young school man now at the age of eight.

June Parker, daughter of Vivian (Lee) Parker and niece of Ves Parker, graduated from high school this year.

Nellie Victoria (Legg) Grisai is teaching piano and violin in Agricola, Miss.

Jennie Loyall reached Paris before the closing in July of that widely heralded Exhibit of Italian art, the largest collection ever assembled in the world, and was interested to find it identical in periods and schools with the exhibit that Mr. Kress had on loan at Wesleyan last December. She later visited Italy and Switzerland.

Frank Willingham, son of Rosalie (Mal-lary) Willingham pledged Sigma Alpha Epsilon at Davidson College in North Carolina where he was recently enrolled in the freshman class.

Reba (Moore) Standifer sends back her daughter, Sadie to be a Sophomore at Wesleyan this year.

Wilma Orr from Ft. Valley and Ruth (Vickers) Fulwood from Tifton attended the Alumnae Council meeting at Wesleyan in October to help with centennial plans. Ruth is putting on a pageant for the Tifton Wesleyan club.

Alleen (Poer) Hinton and Dr. Hinton enjoyed a cruise to Bermuda and Sydney during the summer.

Stella (Roberts) Pendleton accompanied her husband, W. E. Pendleton, to a meeting of the Equitable Life Insurance representatives in Biloxi, Miss., in October.

Sympathy is extended to Bessie (Stubbs) Harden of Macon and to Maude (Stubbs) Stulb of New Orleans, La., in the death of their mother in July after a long illness.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. J. Taylor (Elizabeth Baker), 1985 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

Elizabeth (Baker) Taylor has had some anxieties during the fall. At the same time that Mr. R. J. Taylor, Sr., Wesleyan trustee and her father-in-law was having a major operation in an Atlanta hospital, Tiba's sister, Lois (Baker) Burghard, ex '25, was taken sick on a visit in Atlanta. Friends who have seen Betty, Tiba's daughter, lately say that she is at that lovely blossoming age and is a most attractive girl.

Willena (Berry) Robertson lives at 21 Haney Drive, Chattanooga, Tenn. She has three sons.

Katharine Carnes, Wesleyan librarian, stayed at the college during the summer school session, and then enjoyed a motor trip in the mountains of North Georgia. In October she attended the meeting of the Georgia Library Association in Columbus.

Mary Anderson, daughter of Annie (Gantt) Anderson, and Helen Farmer, daughter of Helen (Cater) Farmer, were among the campers at Laurel Falls Camp in Clayton this summer.

Theresa Hodges spent her vacation in Perry, Georgia. She is librarian in Petersburg, Virginia.

Pearl Hudgins writes that she is "farming, feeling fine—lots to eat and nothing to wear!"

1914

Class Secretary: Mrs. Carroll Griffin (Kathleen Holder, 115 16th St., N. W., Atlanta, Ga.

Captain: Eloise (Cooper) Cannon.

Theodora (Atkinson) Cobb has written to Wesleyan for a catalog to map out a course of study for her niece, Margaret Mallory, who is in high school.

Katharin Carnes, A.B. '13, paid a surprise visit this summer to Cade Coggins and Agnes (Coggins) Webb at Canton where Agnes was visiting her daughter, Teasley. Their mother, Agnes (Teasley) Coggins, wanted all the news of her Alma Mater. Agnes is living in Chicago.

All members of the class of 1914 and friends will join us in sympathy to Eloise (Cooper) Cannon and her husband in the loss of their only child, Renee. She was a sophomore at the University of Georgia, an Alpha Delta Pi, and a lovely girl. During Commencement in June she was thrown from her horse, causing her untimely death.

Annie (Marchman) Malone returned September first to her home in Havana, Cuba after a visit to her mother in Villa Rica and to other friends in the States. She and Ralph, Jr. and Henry (her sons, 10 and 13) came to Georgia in July and were joined here in August by Ralph, Sr., who accompanied them back to Havana. Annie also visited Kathleen (Holder) Griffin in Atlanta.

Erma (Means) Marsden and her attractive son, Halsey, visited relatives and friends in Zebulon this summer. Erma lives in Flushing, L. I.

Floye (Powell) Dumas has returned to Atlanta after a trip to the West Coast with the Georgia Caravan. Floye is a very important member of that troupe and no less important as a teacher at Washington Seminary. Tempus fugit! In Floye's class is Kathleen Griffin, the younger, who is a junior at "The Seminary."

Mary (Robeson) Boardman came down from Marietta to attend our Atlanta Wesleyan Group meeting in September. It met with her sister Harriet (Robeson) Lovett and it was nice to have her there.

Nona (Shaw) Moore's husband, Roy W. Moore, has been made president of the Canada Dry Corporation in New York City. He is the subject of an article titled "And Then They Found Moore" in the July issue of Forbes business magazine. The article recounts the rapid advancement of Mr. Moore from a young Macon attorney, laundry owner, real estate man, to the presidency of the Canada Dry Corporation.

Gladys Sheppard received her Master's degree in religious education from The Bible Seminary in New York where she has been in training for the past two years. She is the only graduate from this college from the state of Georgia.

Sympathy is extended to Estelle (Sloan) Gavin in the death of her husband, Charles M. Gavin of Macon. She has two sons, Charles, Jr., and William Sloan.

We also sympathize with Holly (Twitty) Donaldson in the loss of her father, Mr. W. C. Twitty of Pelham. Holly lives in Statesboro now and was a member of our class during our Freshman year.

Kathleen (Holder) Griffin,
Class Secretary.

1915

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. S. Dodd

White, who has charge of the infirmary at Wesleyan, was in Chicago with her daughter at the time.

1912

Class Secretary: Jennie Loyall, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

Captains: Martha (King) Johnson, Kathleen (Hudson) Garner.

Ruth (Dix) Whigham came back to Wesleyan in October! One of her brothers has recently moved to Macon, and she was visiting him for a few days only. She is as warm-hearted, enthusiastic, clever, and interested in people as ever. She was interested in the Rivoli plant and the students, and after seeing them both said she could think of nothing in the way of physical comfort and equipment that is not provided. She enjoyed seeing Mrs. White in her new infirmary, and laughing with her about the old "sick-room" of former days. Ruth's older son, Ralph, Jr. has begun a three years course at Maxwell Field from where he will later be transferred to the field in Illinois. Her other son Dix is in high school at their home in Rutherford, Ala. She lives not many miles from Columbus, and goes there often seeing Wesleyan folks whenever she can. On this trip she had been in Atlanta and had seen Annie Laurie Maynard who teaches in Draughan's College of Business there, and Jennelle (Dumas) Allen, whose son is making a beginning in a commercial art line, and had heard of Hattie May (Maynard) Wilder's administrative work in some of the Federal projects in Forsyth where she lives with her husband and son and daughter. Ruth promises to come back to our centennial commencement if possible.

Alice (Domingos) Evans had a semi-reunion of our class at her home in Atlanta in the spring. She invited Alleen (Poer) Hinton and Jennie Loyall to visit her at the time she was hostess to her group of Atlanta alumnae, and had a lovely tea that afternoon. Kathleen (Hudson) Garner was there looking lovely and declaring herself a good private dietitian now that her husband requires one. She brought Ollie (Barmore) Kincaid's regrets that her work as secretary to Miss Barker, librarian, prevented her teaing that day. Alice was charming hostess, satisfying our curiosity generously about her beautiful linens and china and rugs that she has collected from different parts of the world, and giving an interesting account of army life in Corregidar. Major Evans has since been transferred to Ft. Leavenworth for a much coveted year's study at the school of the Command and General Staff. Before they left Georgia, they visited Macon where Florence (Howard) Domingos entertained for them in her handsome new home on Vineville Avenue, and Octavia (Burden) Stewart gave a tea for Alice at her summer home, Tomatavia.

Emma (Gaillard) Boyce had her two step-daughters home from college for the summer and spent lots of the time working with them on their music. Emma keeps up her own music and directs the choir for her husband's church in Baldwyn, Miss. Her son David is a splendid looking young school man now at the age of eight.

June Parker, daughter of Vivian (Lee) Parker and niece of Ves Parker, graduated from high school this year.

Nellie Victoria (Legg) Grisai is teaching piano and violin in Agricola, Miss.

Jennie Loyall reached Paris before the closing in July of that widely heralded Exhibit of Italian art, the largest collection ever assembled in the world, and was interested to find it identical in periods and schools with the exhibit that Mr. Kress had on loan at Wesleyan last December. She later visited Italy and Switzerland.

Frank Willingham, son of Rosalie (Mallory) Willingham pledged Sigma Alpha Epsilon at Davidson College in North Carolina where he was recently enrolled in the freshman class.

Reba (Moore) Standifer sends back her daughter, Sadie to be a Sophomore at Wesleyan this year.

Wilma Orr from Ft. Valley and Ruth (Vickers) Fulwood from Tifton attended the Alumnae Council meeting at Wesleyan in October to help with centennial plans. Ruth is putting on a pageant for the Tifton Wesleyan club.

Alleen (Poer) Hinton and Dr. Hinton enjoyed a cruise to Bermuda and Sydney during the summer.

Stella (Roberts) Pendleton accompanied her husband, W. E. Pendleton, to a meeting of the Equitable Life Insurance representatives in Biloxi, Miss., in October.

Sympathy is extended to Bessie (Stubbs) Harden of Macon and to Maude (Stubbs) Stulb of New Orleans, La., in the death of their mother in July after a long illness.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. J. Taylor (Elizabeth Baker), 1985 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

Elizabeth (Baker) Taylor has had some anxieties during the fall. At the same time that Mr. R. J. Taylor, Sr., Wesleyan trustee and her father-in-law was having a major operation in an Atlanta hospital, Tiba's sister, Lois (Baker) Burghard, ex '25, was taken sick on a visit in Atlanta. Friends who have seen Betty, Tiba's daughter, lately say that she is at that lovely blossoming age and is a most attractive girl.

Willena (Berry) Robertson lives at 21 Haney Drive, Chattanooga, Tenn. She has three sons.

Katharine Carnes, Wesleyan librarian, stayed at the college during the summer school session, and then enjoyed a motor trip in the mountains of North Georgia. In October she attended the meeting of the Georgia Library Association in Columbus.

Mary Anderson, daughter of Annie (Gantt) Anderson, and Helen Farmer, daughter of Helen (Cater) Farmer, were among the campers at Laurel Falls Camp in Clayton this summer.

Theresa Hodges spent her vacation in Perry, Georgia. She is librarian in Petersburg, Virginia.

Pearl Hudgins writes that she is "farming, feeling fine—lots to eat and nothing to wear!"

1914

Class Secretary: Mrs. Carroll Griffin (Kathleen Holder, 115 16th St., N. W., Atlanta, Ga.

Captain: Eloise (Cooper) Cannon.

Theodora (Atkinson) Cobb has written to Wesleyan for a catalog to map out a course of study for her niece, Margaret Mallory, who is in high school.

Katharin Carnes, A.B. '13, paid a surprise visit this summer to Cade Coggins and Agnes (Coggins) Webb at Canton where Agnes was visiting her daughter, Teasley. Their mother, Agnes (Teasley) Coggins, wanted all the news of her Alma Mater. Agnes is living in Chicago.

All members of the class of 1914 and friends will join us in sympathy to Eloise (Cooper) Cannon and her husband in the loss of their only child, Renee. She was a sophomore at the University of Georgia, an Alpha Delta Pi, and a lovely girl. During Commencement in June she was thrown from her horse, causing her untimely death.

Annie (Marchman) Malone returned September first to her home in Havana, Cuba after a visit to her mother in Villa Rica and to other friends in the States. She and Ralph, Jr. and Henry (her sons, 10 and 13) came to Georgia in July and were joined here in August by Ralph, Sr., who accompanied them back to Havana. Annie also visited Kathleen (Holder) Griffin in Atlanta.

Erma (Means) Marsden and her attractive son, Halsey, visited relatives and friends in Zebulon this summer. Erma lives in Flushing, L. I.

Floye (Powell) Dumas has returned to Atlanta after a trip to the West Coast with the Georgia Caravan. Floye is a very important member of that troupe and no less important as a teacher at Washington Seminary. Tempus fugit! In Floye's class is Kathleen Griffin, the younger, who is a junior at "The Seminary."

Mary (Robeson) Boardman came down from Marietta to attend our Atlanta Wesleyan Group meeting in September. It met with her sister Harriet (Robeson) Lovett and it was nice to have her there.

Nona (Shaw) Moore's husband, Roy W. Moore, has been made president of the Canada Dry Corporation in New York City. He is the subject of an article titled "And Then They Found Moore" in the July issue of Forbes business magazine. The article recounts the rapid advancement of Mr. Moore from a young Macon attorney, laundry owner, real estate man, to the presidency of the Canada Dry Corporation.

Gladys Sheppard received her Master's degree in religious education from The Bible Seminary in New York where she has been in training for the past two years. She is the only graduate from this college from the state of Georgia.

Sympathy is extended to Estelle (Sloan) Gavin in the death of her husband, Charles M. Gavin of Macon. She has two sons, Charles, Jr., and William Sloan.

We also sympathize with Holly (Twitty) Donaldson in the loss of her father, Mr. W. C. Twitty of Pelham. Holly lives in Statesboro now and was a member of our class during our Freshman year.

Kathleen (Holder) Griffin,
Class Secretary.

1915

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. S. Dodd

Captains: Jessie (Dickey) Strickland, Mary (Quillian) Poole, Willie Mae Little, Verna (French) Shaffer, Annie Lois (Stowe) Fleming.

Mary (Davis) Baldwin, who studied piano under Mrs. Shinholzer at Wesleyan, is a member of the Marshallville Wesleyan Club.

Mary Maud (Gibson) Oppenheimer, president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Savannah, and her mother Hattie (Wilder) Gibson, Ex '89 and sister, Carolyn, A.B. '30, had a trip to Washington, D. C. this summer.

Kate (Lyons) Ainsworth's daughter, Eloise, was among the campers at Laurel Falls Camp in Clayton, Ga., this summer.

Anita (Morgan) Board has a new son, Joseph, who arrived in August.

Mozelle Tumlin has left her work in Japan temporarily to spend some time with her sister Mattie Mae (Tumlin) in Winder.

A feature article about Robert Byrd Wright, husband of Bernice (Wright) Wright appeared in the Telegraph in the "Builders of South Georgia" series. He is spoken of as "modest and unassuming, but one of the most effective of civic leaders." A daughter, Harriet, is a junior at Wesleyan this year.

1916

Class Secretary: Mrs. Jessie W. Davis (Merlyn Hiley), Vineville Court Apt., Macon, Ga.

Jamie (Bachman) Brewer, '13, and her husband spent their vacation touring in the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. While in Georgia they visited Mrs. Birdsong (Nannaline Reeves), and Lida Franklin in Zebulon.

Jessie (Moss) Worley is the wife of a minister, the presiding elder of the Sweetwater, Tennessee, district. Jessie is District Secretary of the Woman's Work.

Class Secretary: Georgia Baker, Public Library, Atlanta, Ga.

Georgia Baker has a position in the Carnegie Library in Atlanta.

Kittie (Cater) Jones is president of the Lanier High School P.-T. A. this year. Kitty and her family have just moved into their lovely new home on Osborne Place in Ingle-side.

Elizabeth (Davenport) Plant had a charming article, "Don't Pardon My Southern Accent" in the Junior League Magazine in April. It was written in her clever, easy style, and poked fun in a most delightful way at the Northerners who think Southerners use "you all" in the singular.

Sympathy is extended to Gertrude (Hay) Jones in the tragic death of her young son, Peyton Jones, Jr., in May. Peyton was an honor student and cadet leader in Lanier High School in Macon. He was ill only a short time with meningitis, and his death was a shock to a host of friends in Macon.

Delle (Lokey) Cameron lives in Thomson and has a fine son, Charlie, three years old.

1918

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. L. Murphy (Marian Cook), 69 Pine St., Rockview Centre, Long Island, N. Y.

Captains: Ray Ballard, Margaret (Atkinson) Clark, Genie Fincher, Vail (Jones) Weems.

Ray Ballard is sorely missed at Wesleyan Conservatory this year. She has an excellent position as assistant director of piano at Connecticut College, New London, Conn. She writes of the warm welcome she received and of how much she is enjoying her work. She is a "house fellow" in addition to her teaching, having supervision of a small group of students in one of the college houses.

Polly (Pierce) Corn is president of the Bibb County Medical Auxiliary this year.

Martha (Ralston) Adams has a little daughter, Martha, born in the summer.

Andromache Porter (Taylor) Bailey has four children, Martha, twelve in February; Frederick, Jr., six in June; Andromache, Jr. (called "Anne"), four in June, and James Bailey, one year old February 5.

1919

Class Secretary: Mrs. A. L. Gilmore (Rosaline Jenkins), 1253 N. President St., Jackson, Miss.

Linda (Anderson) Lane and her children spent some time in Clayton, Ga., this summer.

Margaret (Atkinson) Whitesel has a new daughter, Margaret Anne.

Irene (Brinson) Munro has a son, Winthrop Harold Munro, born June 30.

Lucia (Chappell) Domingos' brother has received high honor for an excellent piece of work in designing at Columbia University School of Architecture. Logan Stanley Chappell is president of the student body of the school architecture this year.

Frances (Gurr) McLanahan visited her cousin, Sara (McLain) Bush, '16, in Macon this year, and was delightfully entertained. She herself gave a supper party for Jose Iturbi, the pianist, who was in Macon for a concert at the time.

Charlotte McCants of Winder received a degree this summer from the University of Georgia. She is teaching this year in Ashburn, Ga.

Mary Frank (McClure) Chandler's husband has opened a drug store in Greensboro, Ga.

Paula Snelling had an unfortunate accident with a horse at Camp Laurel Falls this summer where she is assistant director. She is recovering from cuts, bruises, and a broken rib, but is taking a half year's leave of absence from her work as teacher of mathematics at Miller High School in Macon, Fannie McGehee, A.B. '32, is taking her place for the year.

Sara (Wright) Cason has moved from Chattanooga, Tenn. to Clovis, N. Mex.

1920

Class Secretary: Mrs. Mark Ethridge (Willie Snow), 303 Lock Lane, Windsor Farm, Richmond, Va.

Minnie Goodwin (Artope) Kerr of Augusta visited in Macon this summer, and had a delightful trip to Florida with her sister.

Nell (Bates) Penland has found time, in spite of being president of the Medical Auxiliary of Georgia to do a good deal of writing for newspapers and magazines. One article which appeared in Child Welfare was illustrated with a picture of her son, then a husky little fellow of three.

Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars has a new daughter, of whom she writes: Becky Jean was born March 22, an unbelievable adorable, chubby-cheeked, pug-nosed, red-headed sweet, sweet baby, I'm just too cocky about it for words!"

Lillian (Chester) Gober had her first child in June, a son, Earl Jr.

Elizabeth (Duncan) Covington is making her home now in Atlanta. Her husband was killed in an automobile accident in May, 1934, while on a business trip to Florida.

Ella Mae (Ellis) League, architect, was elected president of the Macon Business and Professional Women's Club in April. Among the directors of the club are Nellie Edwards, '92, Viola (Ross) Napier, '01, and Louise Thomas, '06.

Ruth (Flinn) Harrell's little daughter, Ruth, was the first 1934 baby born in Norfolk, Va., and was awarded a prize for being the first of several babies born on New Year's Day.

Suellen (Morton) Boyette has a second son, David Morton Boyette, born during the summer. Suellen lost her father last December after a week's illness. He was an outstanding farmer of Jones county.

Willie (Snow) Ethridge's husband, Mark Ethridge, is publisher of the Richmond, Virginia, Times-Dispatch, going to this new position from that of assistant managing editor of The Washington Post.

Hazel (Stokes) Thomson's husband, Dr. O. R. Thompson, was honored by the Exchange Club of Macon in being named the member who had rendered greatest service to the club during 1934. He was presented with a watch fob in token of the club's appreciation.

Allie (Van Devender) Williams was the subject of a feature article in the Macon Telegraph in July. She is program director of the local radio station. She has two lovely children, too Harry, Jr., and Eugenia.

Mary (Wesley) Carter has been boarding in Salemburg, N. C., and sending her four little girls to school there.

Newspapers during the summer carried announcements of speeches made by Helen (Williams) Coxon, only woman representative in the Georgia legislature.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Eugene Torrance (Mary Fagan), 532 E. 37th St., Savannah, Ga.

Winifred Gilmore lives in Lakeland, Fla., where she helps her aunt, Miss Lallie Melton, run the "Blue Bird Kindergarten."

Sara (Hudson) Roberts addressed a group in Canton, Ga., in the spring on the value of musical training for children. Sarah received her B. M. degree from Wesleyan.

Among the visitors to Wesleyan last spring were Sylvia (Kaplan) Cohen of Chicago and her two lovely little daughters, Mary Lee and Harriet Louise.

Clyde Smith has left the Washington Memorial Library in Macon to accept a position as librarian in Hattiesburg, Miss. Margaret Hatcher, A.B. '31, succeeded her at the Washington Library.

Maneal Tucker is teaching this year in Cedartown, Ga.

1922

Captains: Jeffie (Bennett) Smith, Lillian (Cooper) Dasher, Josephine (Evans) Miller, Julia (Morgan) Wade, Flora (Rich) Moody, Helen (Owen) Forrester, Mary (Wilson) Adams.

A column called "Music and Musicians" in the Dekalb County newspaper carried a long write-up about Agnes (Adams) Stokes, her musical ability, her hobby (art), and her winning personality which make her one of the outstanding women of Decatur.

Margaret (Bozeman) Dunbar, who is living in Augusta now, has a day nursery and playground for children under four at her home on Greene Street.

Evelyn (Flournoy) Doster of Prattville, Ala., and Ruby (Preston) Malcolm of Madison, who were room-mates at Wesleyan in '22, enjoyed a visit together in Madison in the spring. Evelyn's husband is editor of the Prattsville Progress.

Evelyn Hanna of Thomaston worked for over two years on the "History of Upson County," read all of the 1125 pages of proof, indexed the book (there were 18,000 names in it) and wrote and typed about three-fourths of the contents. Wesleyan is very proud to have a copy in the library.

Elizabeth (Jenkins) Rece's husband is assistant professor of Bible and religious education at Emory University, will be acting dean of men during the leave of absence of Raymond R. Paty of the Emory faculty.

Helen (McKinney) Clark sent in a complete list of the Chattanooga, Tenn., alumnae to the Alumnae office, even giving news notes about many of them. Helen herself, she writes, has one daughter, Helen, and one son, Martin, III.

Irene (Sewell) Hobby's husband, Dr. A. W. Hobby of Atlanta, was granted the Trudeau Scholarship for study at Saranac, New York, the famous tuberculosis sanatorium. This scholarship was the only one given in the south, and gave Dr. Hobby a wonderful opportunity for an intensive study of tuberculosis. Irene accompanied her husband to Saranac. She has done excellent work with the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae this year, and is next year first vice-president of the Atlanta Club.

Marion (Tigner) Dobson came by Wesleyan last spring, and was thrilled to see the new campus for the first time.

1923

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. A. Patterson (Ruth Sears), Cuthbert, Ga.

Captains: Frances (Martin) Asbury, Frances (Holder) Aderholt, Floy (Cook) Stephenson, Mildred (Shelton) Brooke, Eloise Bacon, Ruth (Daniel) Harper.

Eloise Bacon is teaching in Sale City, Ga. She says she has a very full schedule, as in addition to her teaching, she is librarian and she and her sister have a farm which runs fifteen plows.

A charming picture of Emily (Barfield) Pridgen and her young son, Lee Barfield Pridgen, appeared in the Macon Telegraph in August.

Frances (Martin) Asbury had a long letter from Ruth Field in May, just after the Loyalty Fund appeals went out. She writes: "Often I think of the Wesleyan you and I knew and loved, and I found when I went home on furlough two or three years. So many of the same teachers were there, and the spirit was the same. I was so grateful that our 'little sisters' are having the advantages we had and the inspiration of the new buildings and the great stretches toward distant horizons over fields and woods. It is Sunday afternoon, and I have just come out to the Nara Hotel in Japan's ancient capital city. Monday is a holiday at school, so I expect to rest and study, and then go back to the noisy, rustling city of Osaka to work with our students and kindergarten children. My work is so very interesting!"

Hazel (Hester) Bailey is teaching English at Richard Arnold Junior High School in Savannah.

"Tibber (Jones) Williamson of Chatham was delightfully entertained during a visit to Macon this summer. One of the parties was given by Martha (Clark) Baker, A.B. '21.

Lucile (Killingsworth) Shelor of Anderson, S. C., has a son, George, Jr., nine years old.

Leona (Letson) Wiley is living now in Wilmington, Delaware, where her husband is bio-chemist in the new DuPont Research Institution.

Frances (Martin) Asbury's little daughter, Sarah, will be two years old November 24.

Fannie Belle Outler sent two of her favorite pupils to Wesleyan this year, Virginia Hill and Emelyn Guffin. Fannie Belle teaches in Girls' High School, Atlanta. Her brother, Albert, is now assistant pastor of Mulberry Street Methodist church in Macon.

Winifred Rogers is teaching in Moultrie.

Athleen (Rohrer) Cope teaches classes in art in the Covington Mills and Porterdale schools. She also has a studio in Atlanta. Since studying art at Wesleyan, she studied under Bridgeman at the Students Art League in New York, and has taught in Fitzgerald, Ga., and Greer, S. C.

1923

Genevieve (Broome) Jones is director of religious education at the First Methodist Church in New York. A newspaper write-up announcing the addition of Mrs. Jones to the church staff gives this biographical data about her: "She received her A.B. at Georgia Wesleyan, her M.A. at Mercer, where she taught as she studied, and she registered for Ph.D. work at the University of Chicago under Dr. Shailer Mathews. She has taught psychology and religious education at Andrew College, Cuthbert, Ga., and for four years was in charge of the psychology department at Whitworth College and was organizer and director of its personnel work. She has directed various departments in church schools, is a Girl Scout counselor and leads discussion groups of young people. In addition she is an amateur photographer, book reviewer, woodcraft counselor and rifle coach."

1924

Class Secretary: Mary Thomas Maxwell, Elberton, Ga.

Captains: Nell (Lester) Buckner, Aurelia (Cooper) Evans, Carolyn (Fulghum) McCord, Elizabeth Malone, Catherine Craig, Sara (Branch) Adams, Mary (Harwell) Crapps.

An article appeared in a recent issue of The Emory Alumnus about Dr. Harry Brown Bardwell, father of Kathleen (Bardwell) Noble of Havana, Cuba. Dr. Bardwell is now blind and confined to his room on account of illness, but he still manages the affairs of Central Church and Candler College in Havana, and is much beloved by the students. He has served in this post for 25 years without a furlough.

Elizabeth (Hackett) Knox lives in Gray. Her husband is associated with the Georgia Peach Growers Exchange, and they have a little daughter, Betty.

Pauline (Hardeman) Mullenix is employed by Metro Studio in Macon, as tint artist. A long article about her appeared in The Macon Telegraph this summer.

Helen (Kilpatrick) Moseley of Tavares, Fla., has a son, Joseph R. Moseley, Jr., about four months old.

Allene Lokey lives in Thomson. She writes, "I have missed the Alumnae magazines the last year somehow, and want to get them, for I love Wesleyan and always feel proud to know I am one of the Alumnae."

Maurine (Munro) Mauldin is principal of the Broxton Consolidated School in Georgia.

Margaret (Patten) Paty has two children, a son and a daughter.

Elizabeth Stanley was sent by the government to the University of Chicago to do graduate work in social science.

Virginia Thomas is teaching music in Bartow, Ga.

Margaret (Vincent) Smith is the wife of a naval officer. They have an adorable little son, Allan Edward, Jr.

1925

Class Secretary: Mrs. Carey Williams (Celeste Copelan) Greensboro, Ga.

Captains: Katherine Harman, Vo Hammie (Pharr) Carr, Kathryn (Pate) Rackley, Hattie (Branch) Sibley, Loulie (Forrester) Burns, Mary K. (Read) Brannen.

Goodrich White, Jr., mascot of the class of '25, has brought new honors to the class in winning a competitive scholarship to Emory University. He is now a full-fledged freshman, and Mrs. White says, is pledged Chi Phi. Eunice Thomson wrote to congratulate him on receiving the scholarship (in which hundreds of high school seniors competed), and had this note from him:

"I was very pleased and happy to get your note, and I hope I am worth such splendid friends. I have never forgotten my relationship to the Red and White, and my little skull and crossbones is still one of my most treasured possessions. Give the class of '25 my deepest regards. Yours for old times, Goodrich White, Jr."

Neva (Barrow) Antley's little daughter, Iris, was two years old in March.

Margaret Bell's family have moved to Rock Hill, S. C., where she is a member of the faculty of Winthrop College. Alberta Bell, A.B. '27, was married this summer (see Weddings) and the little sister, Carolyn, is a student at Winthrop.

Hattie (Branch) Sibley, Lyons, N. Y., is doing many interesting things. She is teaching a Sunday School class, is vice-president of the Parent-Teacher Association and president of the W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church. In February her missionary society gave a pancake supper to make some money, and Hattie turned "poet" with a clever advertisement in verse called "Sambo's Dream". Hattie says she "fairly aches" for Wesleyan news way up there so far away!

Mary Bennett (Cox) Dunwody had a delightful trip to Mexico City with her husband for the Rotary International convention in June.

Sara (Culpepper) Cutts has a little daughter, Caroline.

Laree (Farr) Blanks' little son, Bruce, started this year to a pre-school class, and thinks himself quite a grown man.

Loulie (Forrester) Burns has a second daughter, Loulie, born in August.

Kathryn (Pate) Rackley has a son, Odis D. Rackley, Jr., born September 25.

Zula Pierce was in Macon in September with her sister, Polly (Pierce) Corn, '18, and had lunch at Wesleyan with Eunice Thomson. She is director of physical education at Southern Seminary, Buena Vista, Virginia. She spent the past summer studying at Peabody College, working in her master's in physical education. In the spring she sent the alumnae office the programs of her May Day pageant and dance recital, which must have been beautiful affairs. Zula had the hard luck to break her ankle in February, and had to teach for weeks on crutches.

Annie Lawrence (Riley) Sawyer has a daughter, Emily, born December 26, 1934.

Ruby Tanner is still teaching at Lanier High School in Macon. She is registered for "swimming" at Wesleyan this year.

Kathleen Turner spent the past summer at East Brook Camp for Girls, near Winchester, Tennessee, where she is director-in-charge. Kathleen sent us a folder telling all about the camp which must be a beautiful one, in the foothills of the Cumberlands on the Elk River. In the winter she is director and teacher of Health Education in Landon Junior-Senior High School in Jacksonville, Fla.

Elizabeth Winn, her mother, Gussie (Jones) Winn of the class of 1882, and her sister, Lila (Mitchell) Poissant, of '06, have moved from 380 Orange Street to the Ellisonian Apartments in Macon.

Captains: Mildred (Jackson) Cole, Mamie Harmon, Roberta Howard, Sadie (Johnson) Langston, Marilee (Hutchinson) Worth, Frances (Cater) Snow, Elizabeth (Middlebrooks) Carter, Anna Weaver.

Mary (Allman) Alford was at Wesleyan in September with Augusta Skelton, a friend who was entering the freshman class. Mary was the same witty, happy-go-lucky person and spent the morning while Augusta registered chatting with and teasing her old teachers. Mary has two sons, Jack Allman Alford. The younger, was born Hallowe'en night, 1933.

Lois (Bell) MacDonell has a young son, born in the spring. Lois and her husband live in Miami, Fla.

Sympathy is extended to Pauline (Ellis) Wilson, A.B. '26, and to Louise Ellis, A.B. '28, in the death of their father, Dr. Paul W. Ellis of Ocala in September.

Isabella Harris came by the college for a brief visit this summer. She is a very successful teacher of English in Washington, D. C.

The Alumnae office had a long and interesting letter in the spring from Sadye (Johnson) Langston whose husband is assistant master in charge of dormitories at Darlington School in Rome, Ga. Sadye teaches two classes and has charge of the library.

Mamie Harmon has a splendid position with Funk and Wagnalls, Publishers, in New York. She spent a delightful summer studying art with her New York teacher at his summer home, Lyme, N. H. She was in North Carolina and Georgia for a few weeks with her family in the late summer.

Madge (Kennon) Hatcher's husband, T.

Ayer Hatcher, is president of the Cooperative Fire Insurance Company of Georgia whose headquarters were moved from Decatur to Macon last December. In June Madge went to McRae to be present for the golden wedding celebration of her mother and father.

Emily Lawton went to New York this summer to attend the convention of the American Guild of Organists and to teach music at the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind.

The Macon Telegraph carried an article about Helen Perdue recently. Helen took a business course after graduation, passed a civil service examination and became a junior and then a senior stenographer in the internal revenue department. She studied law at night at George Washington University, and this summer was one of two stenographers to be taken to Los Angeles and San Francisco with a group of government lawyers to try income tax cases there. Helen has had many interesting experiences in Washington. She was present at the banquet given for Admiral Byrd on his return from the Antarctic.

Glennie (Tallent) Waterhouse has two children, Billy, four, and Martha, six. Her husband is a pastor in Middletown, Ky. He received his Th.M. degree from Baptist Seminary in June.

Sympathy is extended to Anna Weaver in the death of her mother in January. Mrs. Weaver was the grand niece of Alexander H. Stephens, vice-president of the Confederacy.

Margaret (Zattau) Roan's husband, Augustus M. Roan, was sworn in as judge of the DeKalb division of Municipal Court in February by Judge James C. Davis, husband of Margaret's classmate, Mary Lou Martin.

Margaret herself is now a member of the National Board of the League of Women Voters as Director of the Third Region of the League which comprises the nine Southern States and District of Columbia, and is the youngest woman who has been so honored by this organization. She attended a Board meeting in Washington in November, a state meeting in Birmingham in October, and makes trips at intervals throughout the year in connection with this important office.

Class Secretary: Mrs. H. B. Hoover (Luretia Jones), 53 Lexington Hall, Concord

Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

Captains: Mildred (McLain) Launius, Elizabeth (Coates) James, Sara Louise Jordan, Evelyn (Aven) Thompson, Margaret (Fowler) Patton, Celestia (Smith) Paul.

Sympathy is extended to Gladys (Bayne) Baynard in the death of her infant son in April.

Margaret (Benns) Seay has a daughter, Betty, born September 4, 1934.

Lucile (Bryant) Johnson is very successful in writing. Frequent articles from her pen appear in the Atlanta Journal. She has been employed by LaGrange College this year to do publicity.

Virginia (Childs) Bootle has a daughter, born in August. Virginia has one other child, a son, W. Augustus, Jr.

Evelyn (Gibson) Mathews has twin girls, Mary Evelyn and Elizabeth Gibson, born June 7, in Atlanta.

Frances (Horner) Middlebrooks has a little daughter, Marcia Jean, born July 12. Frances writes, "We are planning to come to the Centennial celebration next year. Bishop Pierce was my husband's great grandfather, so the baby is his great, great granddaughter."

Lucile (Jordan) Lane has a daughter two years old and a little son, three months old.

After leaving Wesleyan, Margaret (Mangham) Fleming studied with Monsieur Philip in Fontainebleau, France. She and her husband live now in Cave Spring, Ga., and have a young son, J. D., Jr.

In the magazine, "Reading and the School Library", there is a picture of the R. L. Hope Elementary School Library in Atlanta, Ga., designed by Virginia McJenkin, A.B. '27, who was a teacher last year in this school.

The article which accompanies the picture tells of how in two years, with a beginning capital of $300 for furniture, the P. T. A. of the school, working with Virginia, planned and developed this charming little library which is now the heart of all school activity.

The seven reading tables are early-American cross-leg type made of knotty pine, and the chairs are rather small, with ladder backs and rush bottoms. The Story Hour corner centers around a high-back fireside settle.

These pieces and the magazine rack were all hand-rubbed to a soft, durable finish.

The planning and supervising of this library was all done by Virginia in her free time, outside of her teaching schedule. This year Virginia is librarian of the North Fulton High School in Atlanta.

Virginia Cooper is professor of French and Spanish in the University of Alabama.

Mary Louise (Foster) Swearingen has a little son, George Lin Swearingen, born May 30. The baby is the grandson of Annie (Lin) Foster, A.B. '92, and the grand nephew of Louise Lin, A.B. '04 (who says she is really practically his second "grandmother").

Addie Funderburke studied this summer at Columbia University.

The new bridge over the Ocmulgee River in Macon has been named the W. L. Stribling Memorial Bridge in honor of the young fighter who was killed in a motorcycle accident two years ago, the husband of Clara (Kinney) Stribling. A beautiful group picture of four generations of Clara's family appeared in the Telegraph in August. In the picture are: Mrs. DuPont Guerry, wife of a beloved president of Wesleyan, Judge Guerry, who was honored on Benefactors' Day this year; Clara (Guerry) Kenney of the class of 1909; Clara and her young daughter, Virginia Stribling.

Elizabeth (Jenkins) Steele received her M.A. degree in June, her thesis being on "A History of Guinnett County".

Dorothy (McKay) Bollendonk was at home in the early summer with her little son, Billy. She visited Allie (Stephens) Reynolds, A.B. '29, in Atlanta and Billy Bollendonk and Dudley Reynolds, Jr., about the same age, had a great time playing together.

Virginia Townsend and Eunice Thomson saw Helen (Lowe) Smith in New York this summer. Helen is working now in Macy's book department.

Nancy Stewart is now teaching French and Spanish at Mercer University. In June the Doctor's degree with honors was conferred upon her by the Sorbonne. She received the Master's degree at Emory University and met the residence requirements for the Ph.D. degree at Columbia University. During her residence at the University of Paris she held a fellowship of the Institute of International Education. Nancy has traveled and studied in Spain and Italy as well as in France. In addition to the doctorate she holds several foreign diplomas, among them that of the Institute de Phonetique of the University of Paris.

Nancy has taught in the summer school of Bates College, and for the past two years she was in the French department of Wesleyan. She spent the spring term last year at the University of Paris, finishing her doctor's work, and took the examinations in June. She is one of the youngest doctors the Sorbonne has turned out, and the only woman who received the degree at this session. She is, too, the youngest Wesleyan alumna holding the Ph.D. degree and the only one, in all the hundred years of the college, to receive it at her age. Wesleyan is very proud of her!

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. Wesley Green, Fort Valley, Ga.

Captains: Sara (Godley) Edwards, Geraldine Jackson, Caroline Owen, Laura (Lilly) McMichael, Winifred (Stiles) Bell.

Helen (McNutt) Brice and her husband, who live in Archer, Fla., have adopted three children, a daughter Lorena, 18; a son, Bob, eleven, and a baby boy, whom Helen describes as "red-headed as a little woodpecker". "He is fair," she says, "and I know in a few years we shan't be able to find him for the freckles." Helen wants to send Lorena to Wesleyan. She and her husband are very happy with their little family.

Louise Pittman and Ernestine Bledsoe had a most delightful trip to Europe this summer. Colorful descriptions of their travels appeared from time to time in the Macon Telegraph.

Eugenia Rawls, Conservatory, is playing in the popular New York stage show, "The Children's Hour". She takes the part of the thirteen-year-old schoolgirl whose words open the play. One of her lines, strangely enough, is, "I don't want to be an actress anyway, but a lighthouse keeper's wife."

Exa Rumble is with the Retail Credit Company in Atlanta.

Dorothy Simmons has been transferred from third grade teacher in Macon to Lanier High school, department of mathematics.

Lida Lamar (Staples) Young is living now in Macon and takes an active part in the Macon Little Theatre. She played the part of the mother-in-law in "Her Master's Voice", the first play of the season. While she lived in Anniston, Ala., she played in "Death Takes a Holiday", "Pomander Walk" and "Her Master's Voice, and she served on committees for design and stage setting and as a member of the costume committee.

They all live on the island or in Brunswick.

Elizabeth Whitehead is studying at Emory University Library School.

Class Secretary: Margaret Munroe, Quincy, Fla.

Captains: Mary Seabrook Smith, Elizabeth Moseley, Lois Newsome, Hazel Tabor, Elizabeth Walker.

(Editorial Note: The editor wants to give a special pat on the back to the class of '35, its secretary and its captains! In October there came a letter from Marg Munroe giving full and typewritten notes about her class. Only one of her captains, she says, failed to report, so she has news of nearly every member of the class.

We are using them exactly as she sent them in, and have added at the end a few additional notes which happened to come to the office. Congratulations, 1935, on a very good piece of work! Other class secretaries, please take note.)

Angela Anderson has left her native state of Florida to accept a job in Montgomery, Alabama. Angie is connected with the Resettlement Administration and is having much success, we hear.

Thalia Johnson is at home in Lake Wales and from all we can gather is making big plans to join the ranks of the married contingent in the spring.

Susanne Wilson writes that for want of something better to do that she is studying Home Economics at Bethel College in Hopkinsville. But we think she has a motive in her madness with plans similar to Thalia's in mind.

Louise Page is in Spartanburg working in her father's office. We hear that she is planning to leave her position long enough to spend Thanksgiving at Wesleyan, though.

Milledge Anderson is just one of the many members of the class of '35 that turned "school marm." Milledge is teaching about fifteen miles from Perry and is meeting with much success.

Annie Frances Clower is traveling the road to higher learning and is working towards a Master's degree at the University of Georgia. Fannie is planning to return to Wesleyan for "home coming" on Thanksgiving.

Mary Jenkins, after a couple of weeks of teaching, decided to abandon the career of a school teacher. Jenkins is in Blundale and is rather undecided at present about her plans for the future.

Mary Seabrook Smith is teaching English at R. L. Hope school in Atlanta and writes that she is enjoying it immensely. We wonder what changed Smith's mind because she was so sure last year that she did not want to teach.

Louise Caldwell's wedding is to be an event of November 20th. She is marrying Billy Arnold from Senoia, Georgia. Hazel Tabor writes that she, Kathryn and Elizabeth Jordan all plan to be there for the event. Kathryn is working for her M.A., at Emory this year. Elizabeth is attending Draughn's Business College in Atlanta.

Dot Beall is a cadet teacher in Macon. Her sister, Anita, is teaching music in Lyons, Georgia where Carolyn Moate is teaching expression.

Avis Moate and Hazel Tabor are also in the same town. Avis is teaching expression in Hazelhurst (she stands by that name, doesn't she?) We have heard that she is rooming with a niece of Miss Chaplin's. Hazel is teaching the fourth grade.

Then, of course, we knew before school was over that Dot Royal and Lois Newsome were to teach in the same town—Morgan, Georgia. Dot is teaching the second grade and Lois the fourth. They say that they are having a grand time.

Eleanor Anthony is at home and hopes to be coming south before so very long.

Sally Gillespie is at home (1472 Edgewood Ave.) in Jacksonville. She has just recovered from injuries received in an automobile accident in September. She was enroute to Macon after a week-end party at St. Simons. This summer Sally and Margaret Munroe and Julia Munroe had a memorable trip to New York City. Marg is staying at home. She has been kept busy all fall getting Julia married off.

Two out of our class that we know of are doing graduate work at Emory, Helen Smart and Ann Printup.

We all know that Martha Coates is married. Mary (Oden) Burns is still living in Macon.

Soon after school was over Helen Smith married Al Rogero. They are living in Clearwater, Florida.

As we all expected Martha McCord married Clifford Slocumb in September. She writes a happy letter. They are living in Macon at 623 Vineville Ave.

And another Macon girl is marrying in the spring. Charlotte Joyner is to marry a boy from Bowling Green, Ky.

Boots Baldwin has moved away from Macon and is now living in Savannah. She was a counselor at Camp Dixie, Clayton, Ga., this summer.

Marg Wilson after a summer in Europe is living at home. She has a job with Mr. Stepp helping with the riding instruction at Wesleyan. As a sideline she and Ruth (Renfro) Brower are doing Scout work in Macon.

Among our "school marms" are Mary Dozier who is a cadet teacher in Macon and Elizabeth Baggerly who is teaching in Bartow, Georgia.

Elizabeth Mosely is working in Union Springs on some cotton business for her uncle and is enjoying her work very much. Angie went up from Montgomery to visit her for the week-end.

Miriam Copeland is living in Atlanta and working for her father at the Burdett Realty Co.

Anne (Malone) Ballard is now living in Athens, Ga., at 538 Castalia Ave.

We saw in the paper that Sue Rollins married George Longino of College Park, Ga.

Harriet Campbell is at home doing Y work, volunteer relief work, and taking two courses at the University of Louisville.

Edith (McCay) Manning has a son born August 19, 1935. She is living in Decatur, Georgia.

Louise Liles is at home at 7118 Underwood Ave. She stopped in Quincy to see Marg Munroe this past summer while Avis and Sally were visiting Marg.

And last comes a note from the class secretary who wishes that we could all be together Thanksgiving and urges all to come. Be sure that someone at school is expecting you so a place can be provided for you.

Until Thanksgiving!

Margaret Munroe

Leila Heidt received a scholarship to Scarritt College in Nashville, and left joyfully in the fall to begin work on her M.A. there.

Betty (Stayer) New's temporary address is Tampa, Fla., but she travels a great deal with "Fred." She finished her work this summer at Wesleyan summer school and Emory, and received her diploma "cum laude".

Dot Tinsley is teaching in Bullards, Ga.

Jamie Tyson is teaching in LaGrange, Ga.

"Sig" Lipscomb, Ex '35, is studying medicine at Johns Hopkins, where she received a scholarship.

Viola Sorrell, Ex '35, is a senior at Vanderbilt this year.

Elizabeth Langford, Ex '35, won first prize of $500 in the national public speaking contest of the American Banking Institute held in Omaha in June.

Ora Lee Howard, Ex '35, is studying at the University of Georgia.

Helen Olliff, Ex '35, is studying at S. G. T. C. in Statesboro.

Dr. Whitman saw Evelyn Matthews, Courtenay Bradley and Helen Olliff, Ex '35, at Grand Canyon this summer.
